Athletic Park today threw off its winter wraps and welcomed a summer delegation in the form of manager Don Pries and 12 of the first Victoria Tyee candidates to arrive in the city. The Tyees, under the eyes of freshman manager Pries, worked out in two sessions today, a pattern they will follow until the Western International League season opens in two weeks. Above, a watchful Pries frames several of his players as they play "pepper".

Prince Charles, Anne Sail to Join Parents

Royal Children Leave England for First Time On Britannia; Meet Queen, Duke at Tobruk

SOUTHAMPTON (CP)—Prince Charles and Princess Anne left England today for the first time in their lives—to join "Mom and Dad" at Tobruk.

The children sailed on the royal yacht Britannia on a 2300-mile voyage south to be reunited with the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Five-year-old Charles walked all by himself up the red-carpeted gangway.

Going on board to say goodbye were their aunt, Princess Margaret, and their grandmother, Queen Mother Elizabeth, who firmly held the three-year-old, curly-headed princess by her hand.

Before the $6,000,000 luxury vessel steamed out of nearby Portsmouth on her maiden voyage, Prince Charles fired excited questions about the ship at his aunt and Britannia officials.

The tightest security measures known here since the war protected the gleaming 4,000-ton Britannia for her maiden voyage.

HEAVY POLICE GUARD

Special passes were required to get past heavy police lines on the pier. The $6,000,000 yacht will transport Prince Charles, 5, and Princess Anne, 3, to Tobruk to meet their parents on their return from their Commonwealth tour.

Large crowds gathered outside Buckingham Palace in London to witness the departure of the children on their first trip outside Britain.

Crowds also collected at Waterloo Station to watch Charles and Anne board a Southampton train.

Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret traveled with the children to this south coast port.

It will not be a complete vacation aboard the royal yacht for Charles. His governess, Katherine Peebles, will see that he studies for two hours each morning in a special playground on deck.

The children will be looked after by Helen Lightbody and Isabel Anderson, the palace nurses. Official escort to the Prince and Princess will be Lt. Gen. Sir Frederick Browning, treasurer to the Duke of Edinburgh.

Chances of the children's being sea-sick are slight, as the ship has been fitted with anti-rolling stabilizers and their beds hung between special mountings.

City Hall Staffs Awarded 3% Raise

400 Employees Affected; Mayor Summons Council

A 3 per cent wage increase for the city's 413 inside and outside workers was recommended in unanimous reports today of two conciliation boards.

See Page 3 for Mayor's Fears on Wage Increases

The boards also recommended the city enter into an agreement to provide its employees with MSA coverage on a 50-50 contributory basis.

The awards in both cases are basically the same as were handed down for police and firemen.

In the case of the two uniformed departments, however, the awards are binding. In the case of the inside City Hall staff and the outside workers, the awards are subject to acceptance or rejection by either side.

Although city officials refused to hazard a guess, it is estimated that the award would mean a total increase in the city's annual wage bill of $50,000, or one mill in taxes.

City council has scheduled a special meeting at 2.30, Thursday to consider the reports and to decide what action it will take.

FIRM POLICY

In initial negotiations, the city refused to grant any general wage increases. The inside workers asked for 7.8 per cent, while the outside workers asked for a complete revision of their wage scale to bring it in line with the city of Vancouver's.

City manager Cecil Wyatt, who negotiated on behalf of the city, stood firmly behind the mayor's hold-the-line policy.

Inside staff workers won another concession from the conciliation board. The board recommends that long-time employees be given recognition in the form of service pay. Service pay will be computed on the basis of five cents per day for every five years' service.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS

The report for outside workers made special provision for certain categories. Laborers, for instance, will not receive the three per cent increase but will get an additional five cents an hour instead.

The board, dealing with outside workers, offered a suggestion, in addition to its specific recommendations, that the city strive as far as possible to put its men on a monthly employment basis, instead of hiring them by the hour. It was felt this would bring stability to the service.

The conciliation board dealing with inside staff comprised J. A. Byers, chairman; J. Ronald Grant, nominee of the City Hall Staff Association; and Lloyd G. McKenzie, nominee of the city.

The board dealing with outside workers comprised George A. Wilkinson, chairman; Robert Milliken, employees' nominee; and Lloyd G. McKenzie, city representative.

OAK BAY FIREMEN WIN 3% AWARD

A conciliation board today recommended a 3 per cent wage increase for Oak Bay firemen.

Philip Fleming, chairman of a three-man board which held hearings on the question issued a majority report recommending the increase plus recommendation for MSA for firemen on a 50-50 basis with the municipality. Also working in senior capacity after completion of one platform shift of four days, was recommended.

Quits Post

Britain's Labor party, the official opposition, was split wide open today with the resignation of left wing leader Aneurin Bevan from the "shadow cabinet." The former chief of the labor and health ministries quit in disagreement with the party on issues of West German rearmament, the Far East and Indo-China. (See earlier story Page 23.)

McCarthy Says He Has Proof 'Mr. Atom' Red

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States capital took a wait-and-see attitude today toward the government's suspension and investigation of J. Robert Oppenheimer, pioneer atomic scientist, on security grounds.

Senator McCarthy meanwhile said he has affidavits purporting to show that Oppenheimer once was a member of the Communist party, an affiliation the scientist has categorically denied. The Wisconsin Republican senator declined to elaborate.

From two other persons familiar with the case came statements that the accusations against Oppenheimer had been reviewed and discounted years ago. In notifying him of his suspension, however, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission spoke of "additional investigation" last year.

The AEC said in a formal statement Tuesday that President Eisenhower has ordered "a blank wall" placed temporarily between Oppenheimer, one of the chief developers of the atomic bomb, and secret data to which he has had access for more than 10 years.

Pending the report of an investigating panel headed by a former secretary of the army, Gordon Gray, leaders of the Senate House atomic energy committee fixed a hands-off policy.

State Secretary, Family to Visit Relatives Here

Secretary of State Jack Pickens, Mrs. Pickens and their four children will arrive here Friday to visit Mrs. Pickens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Beattie, 2660 Currie Road. They will arrive via Nanaimo and leave Monday for Vancouver. Mr. Pickens will speak to the Vancouver Canadian Club Wednesday.

Launching Delayed for Backyard Boat

Dreams went up in smoke for glum chums Den Ulrich, left, and John Manning, 17, when John's sports cruiser Klahanie was charred and smoke-blackened after an explosive fire Tuesday. John dropped an electric lamp into bilge, not knowing gas had leaked into boat's bottom. He staved off flames with an extinguisher until Oak Bay firemen came. The youths had planned a 10-day cruise Friday, after working to rebuild boat with other Oak Bay High students for a year. (Times photo.)

EDC To Get Armored Division from U.K.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain announced today that she is ready to place an armored division in the proposed European army.

Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons that Gen. Alfred Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, "has been informed we will do this as soon as the European Defense Community corps is ready to receive it."

Eden was giving details of the agreement signed in Paris Tuesday providing for Britain's association with the projected European army.

He said Britain had told the six EDC governments that "we have no intention of withdrawing from the continent of Europe so long as the threat exists to the security of Western Europe and of the EDC."

FAIR SHARE

Britain had "undertaken to continue to maintain on the mainland of Europe, including Germany, such armed forces as may be necessary and appropriate to contribute a fair share of the forces needed for the joint defense of the North Atlantic area."

British troops now are stationed on the continent as part of the Atlantic pact forces. The EDC would consist of troops from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

France has insisted as a condition of EDC ratification that British forces be closely linked with the six-country army.

Anti-Red Abducted

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin police officially announced late today that the head of an anti-Soviet organization of Russian refugees was "forcibly abducted" Tuesday night by East German Communists who first beat him into unconsciousness.

Australia's Soviet Spy 'Important'

CANBERRA (AP)—Officials expressed belief today that the Soviet diplomat who has brought them a story of Red spying in Australia is one of the most important Russians ever to switch allegiance to the West.

These officials said copies of the mass of "spy" documents which the fugitive Russian third secretary, Vladimir Petrov, carried recently out of the Soviet embassy here probably will be sent on to the other Commonwealth governments as soon as they are translated and investigated. The information might also go to Washington.

And they finally wrung a

Connolly Sworn in Premier To Succeed Angus Macdonald

HALIFAX (CP)—Health Minister Harold Connolly, 53, was sworn in Tuesday night as premier of Nova Scotia's 15th administration since confederation and successor to the late Angus L. Macdonald.

Premier Connolly told the Legislature immediately after the Lieutenant Governor Alistair Fraser administered the oath of office that he regarded his tenure as temporary "and in due course the Nova Scotia Liberal Association will call a convention at which time a permanent leader will be selected."

The convention was a near-certainty for late summer or early fall.

Mr. Connolly was editor of the Halifax Chronicle and Star before they merged with the Herald and Mail and has had a political career which in some ways paralleled that of the man he succeeds.

VICTORIA VOTERS IN DARK

Bonner Flatly Refuses to Tell How Many Liquor Outlets Asked

Victoria voters will vote in the dark on the liquor question April 28.

They will cast their ballots without having the slightest idea how many of the new type outlets are proposed for the city.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, in the Legislature Tuesday, refused point blank to disclose the number of applications that have been made to the Liquor Control Board for the new types of licenses allowed by the revamped liquor law.

The attorney-general gave his reason for refusing the information that "it is considered to be not in the public interest because of the forthcoming plebiscite in the city of Victoria."

George Gregory, Liberal M.L.A. for Victoria, had put the question to the attorney-general. He asked specifically for the numbers of applications for licenses covering dining lounges, hotels, clubs, restaurants, public houses and resorts.

The attorney-general's ruling refusing the information backed up an earlier decision by Liquor Commissioner Donald McGugan.

Col. McGugan received the applications before the Victoria

Citizens' Committee submitted a petition asking for the local option vote. He said that since the vote was ordered he was putting them to one side and declined to disclose how many applications had been made.

Up to now the only definite announcement of plans for retail liquor sale has come from the Empress Hotel, which proposes a cocktail bar, dining lounge and dining room license, but no beer parlor.

One or two other leading hotels have indicated they probably would seek licenses of one form or another but did not make specific announcements.

STOTT in the HOUSE

New Labor Act Goes Through Like a Tank

THE Government's Labor Relations Act crunched through the barricades of three dozen-odd Opposition amendments yesterday afternoon, last night and early this morning.

It was legislative street-fighting with the administration driving a heavy tank over the obstacles placed in its way. The result of the battle was never in doubt.

The CCF appeared to take to itself the sole authority to speak for trades unionism. On one occasion it found itself split from the Liberals. But it remained certain that even if the bill destroyed trades unionism—as CCF spokesmen claimed it would—the movement would grow again stronger than ever.

Mr. Arnold Webster, Leader of the Opposition, left the opening attacks largely to his younger followers, many of whom are actively engaged in union office. They raised their arguments, made their pleas and voiced their warnings with the same result. The Government beat them down or ignored them. In Labor Minister Lyle Wicks' phrase: "The Government is not prepared to accept this amendment."

Mr. Webster entered the fray for the discussion of sections 54 and 55 of the bill. These, in effect, open the door to court action to determine legality of strikes or lockouts and fix penalties for them.

This is what Mr. Webster calls "the heart of the act"—an act which he feels changed what could have been an inspiring day of progressive legislation to its virtual opposite. "Instead of building trust around trade unionism... this government has looked on trades unionism with dread and fear," he believes.

'Court-Happy' Ministers

The minister of labor can refer disputes to the courts and in the event of a "court-happy" (taken from "trigger-happy") minister can launch a union to destruction.

He emphasized what others had said at different points. Unions, says Mr. Webster and his supporters, consider the picket line inviolable. Refusal to cross such a line could result in declaration of law violation on the part of the union honoring the picket line. The union can then become involved in an illegal strike and be subject to such drastic penalties as de-certification.

Attorney-General Bonner did not agree with him on all particulars, but the Opposition Leader spoke for his party, in face of Liberal disaffection. On that point—reference to the court—came the first split in the combined Opposition's vote.

You wondered, listening to the debate, just how far the CCF could go in establishing its monopoly over the championship of trades unionism. Some of the younger members were quick to charge Liberals with Conservatism and failure to understand the trades union movement. They probably alienated a considerable portion of opinion in the public galleries with the implication that they alone were in a position to recognize the rights and needs of the working man.

Still, when the bill's penalty clauses came up for approval, the Liberals were back with the combined Opposition, as the administration carried the division 22 to 18.

Mr. Gagliardi Spanked

For the consistency of the attack on the bill, tempers remained fairly even. At one time Public Works Minister Gagliardi drew a little too enthusiastic and shouted an affirmative before the question was put. Mr. E. E. Winch took him to task. He was, said the CCF elder statesman, taking the bill with far too much levity.

Mr. Gagliardi rose to protest volubly. Mr. Winch replied. If it hadn't been in the dignified realm of the legislature, you'd have said Mr. Winch pinned the ebullient minister's ears back. Mr. Gagliardi was a quieter man the rest of the day.

At one stage the Secords almost agreed to a Liberal amendment. They couldn't quite bring themselves to accept a proposal from George Gregory which would have given a judge some option in setting penalties. But they endorsed a watered-down version of the same thing presented by Mr. Wicks. The minister made one other concession. Having fought the CCF on the point, he finally presented an amendment prohibiting prosecution of a union without written consent from the Labor Relations Board.

Before the contentious bill came up for committee consideration, the conventional end-of-the-session rush prevailed as other bills went through advanced readings and the conventional Opposition protest was lodged against such actions. That's routine.

In some of the minor changes of the day, motorcycles were given the same registration fee as private passenger cars. They had previously been left at the higher-rate prevailing last year. On the other hand, station wagons used for pleasure purposes enjoyed no reduction at all.

It was a tiring day—a day on which union officials labored in the vineyard of labor legislation. They may have planted seeds for later germination. But there was no immediate crop.

Breaks Comet's Record With Sabre Jet

Flying a Sabre jet, Sqdn. Ldr. Robert Christie, 30, of Vancouver, broke the Vancouver-to-Ottawa air speed record established by the RCAF's Comet jet-liner. The test pilot with Central Experimental and Proving Establishment at Ottawa flew from Sea Island airport to Uplands airport, Ottawa, in three hours, 46 minutes. The previous record time for the 2,298-mile flight, set by the Comet, was four hours and 25 minutes. In getting the new mark, Sqdn. Ldr. Christie, seen above, also established a new record for the Winnipeg-to-Ottawa leg. He made that in one hour, 51 minutes, compared with the two hours and 10 minutes taken by the Comet.

Schweitzer Pleads For H-Bomb Ban

'Listen to the Words of Your Scientists' Says Famed African Medical Missionary

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1952, says "scientists must speak up" if there is to be any hope of persuading governments to stop hydrogen bomb experiments.

The world-famed 79-year-old scholar, who renounced the world of science to become a medical missionary in French Equatorial Africa, wrote of "the anguish in my heart" in a letter on the H-bomb published today in The Daily Herald, London, paper which supports the Labor party.

He wrote from his medical centre in Africa before Tuesday's announcement, in Washington on the suspension of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer. One of the allegations against the U.S. atomic scientist is that he lobbied against the development of the H-bomb.

Schweitzer said the problem of the effects of the H-bomb is "terribly disturbing." But he did not favor a conference of scientists to deal with the problem, as has been suggested by The Herald.

"There are too many conferences in the world today and too many decisions taken by them," Schweitzer said.

"What the world should do is to listen to the warnings of individual scientists who understand this terrible problem. That is what would impress people and give them understanding and make them realize the danger in which we find ourselves."

(From AP and UP Dispatches) NEW YORK—The world's leading scientists have rushed to the defense of Dr. Robert J. Oppenheimer, suspended as an adviser to the United States Atomic Energy Commission, pending a new investigation of security risk charges.

Dr. Hans Bethe, president of the American Physical Society, said "without Dr. Oppenheimer, the U.S. might not have the atom bomb."

"He has been responsible for the training of as many as half of our most brilliant theoretical physicists."

"I sincerely hope that even now the investigation can be conducted calmly. If this can be done, I am confident that Dr.

JUST for the RECORD

FLING: In Philadelphia Frank Alexander Holden, a former army cavalryman, sought a "pass" to town today because "something tells me to go out and see the world once more."

Holden, who saw service on the frontier in 1876, is 104 years old. The Riverview Home for the Aged indicated it would grant him the pass if someone will accompany him.

LOST WEEK-END: In Tallahassee, Fla., Leslie Anderson is going to take 20 weeks to serve 40 days in jail—and pay for it, to boot.

City Judge John A. Rudd yesterday told Anderson, convicted of drunkenness, he could serve his time on week-ends. But since prisoners do no work on week-ends to pay for their keep, Anderson will contribute $2.80 for his board each week-end.

IN THE BAG: In Zaner, O., Wesley Brian sent a bag of cow feed to the treasury department today and asked for $40 in return.

Bryan, a feed store employee, dropped his billfold into a feed grinder and it ground the money up. He wants a refund.

GAY WORDS: In Amherst, Mass., a University of Massachusetts English instructor has come to the aid of cross word puzzle and scrabble addicts.

Mrs. Martha Wright said yesterday she has drawn up a list of 615 words listed by the last letter instead of the first.

FAME: In Fulton, Mo., former president Harry S. Truman tried to park his car on the Westminster College campus last night and was waved away.

Patrolman Paul Hill told the former president to park somewhere else because "this place is reserved for Mr. Truman."

Commandos Again Blow Up Fort's Airstrip

HANOI, Indo-China (UP)—Communist night raiders blew up steel landing mats on the battered Dien Bien Phu airstrip early today for the second time in five days, effectively preventing removal of hundreds of wounded crowding the besieged fortress' underground infirmary.

Black-clad Communist Viet Minh commandos attacked through the early morning mists under cover of a shattering artillery barrage and blew up the northern end of the strip with home-made bangalore torpedoes—hollow bamboo poles packed with explosives.

The mounting number of wounded and ammunition shortages are the besieged garrison's greatest problems.

American cargo planes landed in Indo-China today with more supplies for the garrison's "fighting fools."

Extra CP Ship From Nanaimo Thursday Night

There will be an extra sailing by the CRP from Nanaimo to Vancouver for heavy holiday week-end travel Thursday night, it was announced today.

SCHOOLS OUT FOR 10-DAY EASTER BREAK

Greater Victoria's school children will stack their books in their desks Thursday and forget about lessons for the next 10 days.

Thursday is the last day of school before the Easter vacation. The youngsters will be off until Monday, April 26, when they will return to complete the remainder of the school year.

'Headache Pills' Drug Conviction Quashed by Court

The B.C. Court of Appeal sitting in Victoria today quashed a conviction of possessing drugs against Christian Rothweiler, 45, of Vancouver.

Rothweiler was sentenced to two years in prison for having in his store headache pills known as 292's, which must be prescribed by a doctor.

Accused, through his counsel, B. H. Pallitt, Vancouver, said the pills contained codeine, which is not as harmful as other drugs. The accused, counsel also pointed out, got the pills when he bought the store complete with stock from a Chinaman and had no knowledge that pills contained in nine bottles were of a narcotic nature.

Says Police Nice Despite $35 Fine

John Alexander Wren, 1356 Pembroke, took time in court today to tell Magistrate H. C. Hall of the courtesy of the police officers who summoned him for careless driving April 5.

But he was fined $35 in spite of the compliment.

Police said he had driven through a stop sign and caused $165 damages in a subsequent collision. The magistrate also remarked that a suspension would be recommended.

"Thank you very much, sir," said Mr. Wren.

It cost John Ross, 470 Walter, $10 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian in a crosswalk.

Nancy Finds Senate Quiet But She's Busier Than Ever

"I received letters from one coast to the other," Mrs. Hodges said here today in her first interview since her arrival from Ottawa. "Only one was against my stand, and of course it was anonymous."

She made the statement as a member of the Senate's capital and corporal punishment committee, one of five committees of which she is a member.

Contest Entries Close May 31

Final date for entries in the Greater Victoria Recreation Council's backyard playground contest is May 31, and not May 1, as announced by officials on Tuesday.

The contest, aimed at developing as many home playground lots as possible within Greater Victoria School District and thus cutting down on the number of young children playing in the streets during the summer, is open to school children from preprimary to Grade 6.

Judging will take place from June 1 to 12, and awards and certificates will be presented to qualifying entrants before the schools close on June 25.

Mayor Scolds Workers; Foresees Receiver Taking Over Victoria

Civic bankruptcy due to repeated wage demands by organized city workers was forecast Tuesday by Victoria's mayor at a meeting of the police commission.

Target of a finger-waving tirade were members of the police union, present to clean up details of 1954 wage and working conditions agreement, main point of which, a 3 per cent wage hike, was ordered by a conciliation board April 5.

"You will all be out of a job the ultimate end, bankruptcy ensues," a receiver takes over. Things are going on the rocks. Unless common sense prevails somewhere and a halt is made, we face a very serious future," the mayor said.

'SHERIFF' MOVES IN

He ventured that the day might come when the "sheriff" will take over citizens' homes and "you'll have maybe your selves to blame." He said he spoke collectively, not just the policemen were to blame.

On the other hand, he could see Victoria completely rid of debt if union demands on the public treasury would slow. But he added that it would take 16 years.

Earlier in the meeting the commission had met with E. Callan, business agent for Local 1918, International Union of Operating Engineers. The meeting was for signing of an agreement between two police station engineers and the commission.

NOT SIGNING

Commissioners William Hamilton and Gordon Carter had approved in prior meeting a 5 per cent increase but the mayor said he was not signing until he knew why the increase was needed.

Mr. Callan began to list his arguments—first, that the two men were on call 24 hours a day.

"That part's wrong," said the mayor. He agreed with Commissioner Hamilton that there should be four engineers on the job and wanted to suspend the contract until city solicitor Arthur Patton had looked into the matter.

Commissioners Hamilton and Carter felt that the matter of the hours worked could not affect the wage contract they had negotiated and voted to sign the papers.

UNDER PROTEST

"You can sign it, I won't," the mayor said, but the majority vote being against him, and he signed, "under protest."

The police delegation, headed by Constable Lorne Shandley,

"I'm finding it highly interesting and no sinecure," she said. "We do not have the 'cut and thrust' of the provincial legislature, because most of the debating is done in committee."

SLOW BUT THOROUGH

"Although the pace is slower and more leisurely, it is tremendously thorough," Mrs. Hodges said. "I am much busier there than I was in the B.C. Legislature."

"I don't believe people know the work the Senate does for Canada," she said.

Her committees include capital punishment, labor and immigration, internal economy, divorce, and transport and communication.

"The post office debate came up in the last-mentioned committee," she said. "I took the opportunity to point out the stupidity of air mail letters sent from here to Seattle having to go by way of Vancouver."

Mrs. Hodges will return to Ottawa at the end of next week.

More Esquimalt Aid Sought by Fairey

Full consideration of war veterans' allowances will begin after the Easter recess of the House of Commons, Dr. F. T. Fairey, MP for Victoria, said today on his arrival from Ottawa.

"We don't know what to expect," he said. "There may be an increase in the extra income allowed, but I doubt if the pensions themselves will be increased."

The member said he still hopes to win a grant for Esquimalt to help maintain Admirals Road, thoroughfare used widely by national defense services, but that "it doesn't do to keep hounding the government."

"The whole thing is tied up with a bill to propose amendments in municipal aid grants," he said.

The Esquimalt claim does not come under existing categories, he said, but he hopes to get some type of special allowance. "We'll just have to be a little patient," he said. Layoffs in Victoria shipyards had been caused by delays in production of designs for two minesweepers that could not be speeded up.

"The central drawing office has been overwhelmed with work," he said, "and plans like this are subject to constant change and improvement."

The Steamroller

MR. BENNETT, BACKED BY his obedient majority, has rammed through the most vital business of the Legislature without adequate debate, in disregard of many important groups in the British Columbia community and in denial of his own promises.

Most regrettable was the sudden decision to impose closure—for that is what it amounted to—on the new, far-reaching and questionable labor legislation. At least this controversial bill should have been referred to a committee of the House where it could be adequately studied and where the representatives of management and labor unions could be heard. Instead, Mr. Bennett insisted on passing it, after cursory discussion, merely to secure a convenient adjournment before the Easter holidays.

In agreeing to this method of the guillotine the Social Credit Party members were simply abdicating the responsibilities and refusing to do the work for which they were elected and are paid. Mr. Bennett cracked the whip and all his followers leaped to do his bidding. And this is the procedure which he calls "democracy at its best."

The fact that their labor bill seems to be sound in many respects does not excuse its casual rubber stamping by the Government majority. For this bill affects every working man and every businessman in the province. The labor unions particularly object to some of its provisions, management objects to the greatly increased powers of the minister of labor and no one can foresee how it will affect either side of industry. Such a measure needed much more consideration than Mr. Bennett would permit.

It is extremely questionable, for example, whether a labor union should be decertified and actually put out of business as a penalty for breaking the new law. No such penalty is proposed for management if it breaks the law. Even when a corporation is proved guilty of restraining trade through monopoly and damaging the whole community it is fined but it goes on doing business. The unions, with their great powers, must also be subject to penalties such as fines when they break the law but decertification is an excessive punishment and it is highly doubtful that it can be seriously enforced.

In all such legislation, intimately touching large sectors of the population, the first purpose of government must be to seek agreement and consent. Like prohibition, no law can be enforced against an angry, determined and substantial minority.

But Mr. Bennett did not seek any agreement, compromise or accommodation. He rejected all thought of amending his law except in the smallest particulars to meet the wishes of either labor or management. He almost seems to be inviting labor unions to break the law when, with minor exceptions, they are highly responsible bodies of good citizens who can be bullied only at the risk of grave damage to society as a whole.

Perhaps not so much by the actual words of the new law as by the manner of its passage the Bennett Government has not tried to forestall but to impel labor disputes and class struggles. If that is the result of the Government's bludgeoning tactics and breakneck speed the Government and its supporters alone will be to blame. To get home for Easter the Social Credit caucus has taken this leap in the dark and no doubt will regret it before long.

So with the Government's financial policies. They deny outright the pre-election promise of economy and boost the budget to a new peak. They increase the very sales taxes which Mr. Bennett always attacked in his opposition days. They increase total taxes, though he denounced the excessive taxes of his predecessors. And they will vastly increase the provincial debt, by railway borrowings, though the Government was solemnly pledged against debt increases.

All these new and contradictory policies have been rammed through without proper consideration by a dictatorial Cabinet and a caucus of rubber stamps. There was nothing to prevent the Legislature returning to work after Easter and doing its business in decent order—nothing, that is, but the Government's steamroller, the like of which has never been seen in British Columbia before.

A Son of Nova Scotia

THOUGH HE PREFERRED TO remain in his own province of Nova Scotia and die there in harness, the late Premier Angus L. Macdonald was one of the great national statesmen of his time in Canada.

Only the duties of war could call him from Halifax and in Ottawa he instantly became a key figure in the war cabinet of the late W. L. Mackenzie King. His immediate duty was to build up, overnight, a Canadian Navy in the Battle of the Atlantic and, though his only experience in war had been as a soldier in the fields of France twenty years before, he was Canada's most successful naval minister.

His influence on affairs went far beyond his own department. This scholarly man was pre-eminently a philosopher of politics, with a deep knowledge of history, a magnificent eloquence and, beneath his quiet exterior, a streak of Highland poetry.

He and King were antipathetic from the beginning but both appreciated the other's abilities. No colleague had a greater effect on the Prime Minister than Macdonald, especially in the conscription crisis of 1944, when the quiet man from Nova Scotia led the rebellion against his leader.

After that Mr. Macdonald could have remained in federal politics and might well have become King's successor. But his native shores called him home again and in his own town of Halifax he died as he would have wished, too young, but at the peak of his powers. His name will be remembered with all great Nova Scotians, with Howe and with Tupper, whose work he carried forward so well, and it will rank high among the other great men who managed Canada's greatest war.

Ready for the Sprint

PERHAPS THE GREATEST thrill and satisfaction of a long struggle is to see ahead the dawning of final triumph. It is at that point that efforts should be redoubled, for the long investment of past years appears about to be realized. It is no time to sit back and feel that enough has been done. You are entering the home stretch and it is time to go into a sprint.

That, in a sense, is the situation in cancer research today. Enough progress has been made in recent years to encourage noted experts to forecast that ten years, five years, perhaps even two years, could see the mastering of this dread disease.

Already new treatments have given added years of life to sufferers in advanced stages. There is as yet no cure but the door is ajar and scientists can catch a glimpse of what may lie just ahead. As one writer puts it, "Partial successes give many medical scientists the impression they're 'closing in' on cancer."

Obviously, this is not a time to relax in our support of the campaign against this scourge. Current treatments, and the fight for ultimate victory, need funds. The Conquer Cancer appeal now being made should receive a generous response.

Small Plea to Science

A NERVOUS WORLD COM-plains that science and invention have outstripped moral development. In the material realms nothing seems impossible. From the H-bomb to the mechanical brain the wonders increase.

Now, say the philosophers, the time has come to lay aside this scientific and mechanical wizardry while humanity tries to catch up so that it may enjoy the fruits of its own ingenuity.

But the time is not yet—not quite. Somehow, science in its busy whirl must pause to explain to the average man how he can oil a squealing window pulley. So strict is the demand of the householders for no draughts at the window, so deft the ability of the carpenter in meeting that demand that no space exists in which to thrust the oil can spout.

Surely the mind which has encompassed atomic fission can solve the lubricating problem without tearing off the outside of the house. And when the mind has performed that task it will have served a moral purpose—at least as far as language is concerned.

Somebody Bad Stole De Wedding Bell

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

ONE day last month there was a short news item about an art school in Devon. The school had a little exhibition. One of the pupils revealed that she had painted a picture with her foot instead of with her hand. The public flocked round. The head of the school got angry and took the picture down. Well, various readers got various sorts of thrill from this scrap of news. The general reaction was that we all have a great joke on the head teacher in particular and on contemporary art in general. Art is all a fraud. Teachers are all frauds.

A MAINLAND paper pointed out that the teacher was a hypocrite. If the picture was worth hanging as a hand-painted picture, then it was still worth hanging as a foot-painted picture. We should appreciate the picture itself, not the means employed in painting it.

Well, my smarties, that is exactly what the teacher meant himself. That is why he was so cross. People didn't come to see the picture as a work of art. They came to see it as a work of foot. People don't want to see pictures. They want to see freaks. So he got mad, and took the picture away. Not to punish the artist, who was blameless, but to show his contempt for public taste.

THE PLANNED CAREER I KNOW the mother of a rough little hoyden of ten or eleven. The little girl plays a fair game of baseball and soccer, which is harmless enough. But she imagines she is a great big tough gorilla, which may be rather a mistake. Her language and her swagger and her bullying air would make a stranger laugh and make a mother despair. The other day the mother was pointing out several of the very real advantages of feminine charm. The little girl said all right, then, she'd give the old female attributes a whirl. Until she grew up, that is. "Until you grow up?" said the mother. "Why?" said the girl, "what do you expect? When I grow up, I'm going to be a lady wrestler."

EVERY inch a lady! Well, I suppose a lady wrestler is a lot more charming than a roller-skate queen... the professional roller-skater, I mean. And it is a great thing to have your career planned in advance. And one good thing about lady wrestlers is that they seldom feel they've got to go to university.

QUACKS TALKING of university, I see the Canadian Army will put you through medical school if you agree to serve as an army doctor for a couple of years after you qualify. That seems more than generous. I think more high school students (and their parents) should remember this plan... provided it remains in effect. I have only one objection to the plan. (I don't even object to it as a taxpayer, though I do think the contract should require something a bit longer than a couple of years' service.) My only real objection is this: I read the advertisement somewhat hastily, but I think I'm right in saying the offer applied only to men. Why? Putting the thing on the lowest plane, it would still be worth a good deal to have doctors in the CWACS. So that they could be CWACS doctors. (Sorry.)

NORMALITY (HI, NORM!) A "medical forum" away over yonder on the mainland, a member of the audience asked if it was all right for a teenage girl to be interested in boys. A distinguished scientist said that such an interest is normal behavior and therefore can't be a bad thing.

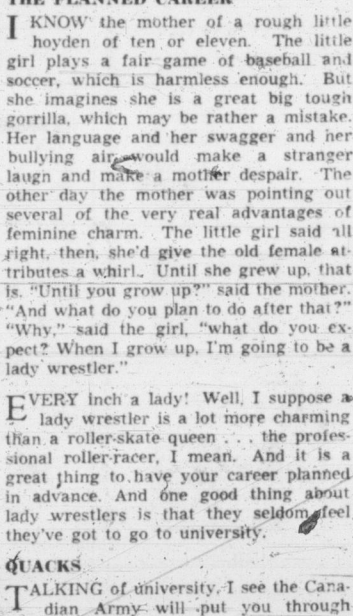

Well, in some ways, of course, he's right. I'd go even further, and say that unless a girl shows an abnormal and morbid and sickening interest in boys, she's not quite an average little giggler. She may be a genius or she may be in a coma. She may have private reasons for hating boys, or she may be in love with one boy to the exclusion of boys in general. But she's not Little Miss Average.

NO, ma'am. The average girl thinks boys are a nice hobby, a miracle (of a low-grade sort), and her legitimate dupes. She also thinks they have a great future. All this is highly impractical. But it is normal in one sense, if abnormal in another, and therefore good.

But over here, at Old Doc Brock's Private Forum, we've got a couple of questions arising out of that. The first is this: If Nature can prompt a normal hobby in any damsel, can't that normality be slightly (or greatly) altered by the entertainment industry, including movies, magazines, radio, TV and advertising? And can't it be falsified by whatever is the local custom at any one moment?

THE second question is this: can't a thing be normal and a poor idea at the same time? Or, put another way, are wisdom and restraint always wrong? (Restraint both from without and from within.) A skilled debater might prove that drunkenness is normal. Does that prove it harmless? But supposing romantic love under the influence of drink is silly (whether normal or not), why is romantic love under the influence of magazines a jolly good show? If kids of fifteen are drunk with romantic fallacies, they may be normal but they're still drunk. "Time, gentlemen, please."

As Our Readers See It

RED CROSS

The 1954 Red Cross campaign for funds has been successfully completed, and results exceed the objective of $72,000.

This has once more confirmed the fact that the work done by the Red Cross in peace and war, in Canada and internationally, is not being done in vain, and as such is being appreciated.

May we through your medium express our admiration for the time spent and efforts expended to the 800 volunteers who helped in the canvass, the publicity and the accounting. Of course, those who donated are also due our most hearty thanks, as after all the total reached is the summation of their individual contributions.

Our thanks to all.

ON ONE HAND...

May I take some space to answer an article by Humphry Davy on "Troubled People Helped by Spiritualism."

First may I warn any and everyone, who wishes to have a hope of eternal life, to shun as the plague spiritualism under any guise; it is one of Satan's great weapons to delude mankind (with such belief we have no need of a Saviour or the resurrection).

It was Satan in the guise of a serpent in the Garden of Eden, who uttered the wicked lie that Eve should not die if she ate of the forbidden tree.

Satan deceives those who venture on his ground and disbelieve the plain word of God, Satan says, "Thou shalt not die but live and know everything. We are told in Isa. 8:19: 'When they shall say seek unto those who have familiar spirits and unto wizards that peep and mutter; should not a people seek unto their God for the living to the dead?'"

E. A. VINCENT,
Royal Oak.

... AND ON THE OTHER

It pleased me greatly to see the two written articles in Wednesday's Times regarding Bishop W. H. D. Lemont's visit to Victoria with his Spiritualist Revival team who are conducting services at the Open Door Spiritualist Church.

It is a broadminded account written about it. Many people describe the Woman of Endor in the Bible, who was a prophetess, as a witch, which is not true. A witch means a worker of spells and enchantments and a poisoner and she was not a necromancer, which means one who prophesies by the internal organs of human beings.

She was a good, kind woman. Her prophesy came true. Saul died not because he consulted this woman as is alleged but because he saved the best part of the flock of the Amalekites. See Samuel 27: (3-25).

I could explain some more things which may puzzle others but am content to say I find Spiritualism most spiritual and uplifting. Some among this religion have some fine gifts.

"A SPIRITUALIST."

TWILIGHT

Mr. Ralph Pashley is to be highly commended for his splendid talk over CJVI re the housing of senior citizens, many, through no fault of theirs, living in deplorable conditions even in our fair city of Victoria. Recently Padre Hills devoted quite a bit of his time on his Sunday evening program.

It gladdens my heart to see our younger business men and ministers of the gospel trying to awaken public interest in this humanitarian work. If every minister in Victoria would call on their parishioners to give a little to a fund to back the project started by the Kiwanis, life would soon have a better meaning for our pioneers.

I would call the attention of all trade unions to study this, also all other organizations. We need have no fear of Communism if we follow the Master's teaching (As ye have done it to the least of these my brethren ye have also done it unto Me).

A great memorial could be started to the men who laid down their lives by caring for many of their parents in the twilight. It would be an inspiration for other centres to copy.

AGNES L. SPOSITO,
422 Kingston Street, Victoria.

UNDER CONTROL

It has been said that the output of steel in the United States was a reliable indicator of business conditions. If this is true, then business is not so good as we are led to believe, as the output of steel is down almost 50 per cent from capacity in less than two years.

Other indications of a business recession are the 4,000,000 unemployed in the United States and over 500,000 in Canada, while store houses in both countries are bulging with unsold goods.

Then there are the millions of second-hand cars which are the result of one of the greatest credit buying sprees in history. Most of these cars have been repossessed because the owners couldn't keep up the payments.

This is a serious situation to say the least, yet the supermen at Ottawa and Washington say there is no reason for alarm as they have everything under control.

TOM CLARK,
Royal Oak.

AGAINST RCMP

There appears to be some thought in the minds of the authorities at City Hall that it would be advisable to substitute the RCMP for the city police. Taking the record of the conduct of the RCMP at Prince Rupert last August into consideration, I feel that the city would be better served without such a police force on its payroll. The action of RCMP constables in Prince Rupert was nothing less than disgraceful, and these men seem to have an utter disregard of the rights and dignity of the ordinary citizen. In fact, the sooner British Columbia gets rid of that force as a general police force within its borders the better it will be for the province.

I have always understood that the suppression of the narcotics traffic was one of the main duties of the RCMP but they appear to be utterly incompetent in the suppression of that vicious traffic, as the importation into Canada of habit-forming drugs appears to have increased radically and is still increasing.

In my opinion, after reviewing the facts of the Prince Rupert riots of 1953, I feel that some of the RCMP constables should have been prosecuted by some of the people whom they victimized.

The Right To Be Wrong

BY JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP, FROM WASHINGTON

SEN. McCarthy was getting ready to play his ace-in-the-hole, but he has been beaten to the play. The senator had, of course, carefully timed his attack in order to smother the smell of the McCarthy-Cohn-Schine mess. His H-bomb ace must have looked to him like a sure winner. First, the subject matter itself guarantees the maximum sensation. Second, there actually was a delay in the decision to go ahead with the hydrogen bomb. Third, the physicists who were in part responsible for this delay are easy for McCarthy.

The older generation of physicists lived their early adult years in an incredibly isolated and rarified atmosphere. In this atmosphere, some of them (though by no means most) developed a truly monumental naivete about political matters.

One extremely distinguished American physicist, who made great contributions to the American atomic program, is known in his younger years to have committed acts of political folly unworthy of the intelligence of a five-year-old child. He is certainly not alone.

McCarthy will, of course, use such ancient acts of folly to "prove" a deliberate and treasonable design to delay American progress in the hydrogen field. If the real facts about the actual delay are not well understood, McCarthy may well get away with this fraud.

SECRET STRUGGLE

The basic facts are well known to the present writers, since the story of the secret inner struggle over the hydrogen bomb first appeared in this space, and helped to force the decision to make the bomb. Briefly, the essential facts are these:

The delay in the decision to go ahead with the hydrogen project lasted, not 18 months, but well under five. It is true that the intelligence services now believe that the Russians started work on the hydrogen bomb about a year and a half before we did. But this was, of course, completely unknown to anyone in the country at the time.

Before the first Soviet atomic test, in September, 1949, it had been believed that the Soviets would not test an atomic bomb—much less a hydrogen bomb—for at least two years.

Thus, before September, 1949, the hydrogen bomb was a matter of academic theory. But immediately thereafter, the bitter secret debate within the government started, and culminated in President Truman's green light for the hydrogen bomb project, in January, 1950. Why, it may be asked, was there any debate at all, or any delays at all?

The answer is simple. The great majority of the United States' leading physicists harbored the most profound doubts about the wisdom of making a vast investment in the hydrogen project. These doubts were in part moral—and why should they not be, since physicists are also human beings? But they were basically technical and scientific.

Some scientists agreed with the aged Dr. Robert Millikan that the chances were "100 to 1" that the hydrogen bomb could not be made. More agreed with Dr. Robert Bacher, then a member of the AEC, that the hydrogen bomb would be less efficient than the atomic bomb, by a ratio of something like 16 to 1. There were plenty of other technical grounds for hesitation, in the view of the majority of the physicists who were consulted.

If, as Sen. McCarthy implies, the delay was the result of a treasonous plot, then a majority of the leading American physicists were implicated in the treason, and the country might as well concede defeat in the nuclear arms race now in progress.

Of course, the delay had nothing whatever to do with treason. The plain fact is that the physicists were wrong. All the technical obstacles that were predicted have been triumphantly overcome, and the United States (like the Soviet Union) can now boast a bomb which can kill several million people at a stroke.

But the point is that the physicists had a right to be wrong—and not only because the thermo-nuclear field was then an unexplored jungle of imponderables. They had a right to be wrong also because this right—the privilege of making an honest error of judgment without being labeled a traitor—is basic to free science and a free society.

ENEMY NO. 1

I believe that man's greatest enemy is fear, not fear in battle, but in his day-to-day life. Yes fear, and selfishness with which it is curiously entwined. They are the ultimate foes. And I do not believe that they are conquered by action. They are vanquished by meekness, withdrawing into a stage of sublime anonymity, and an increasing fire of moral courage within one's heart. I touch only the fringe of this knowledge yet, but I believe that I am right.

That Secrecy By-Law

LAST Thursday was a black day in Victoria's history. To the intense amazement of thousands, six aldermen knuckled under to the mayor and voted for his preposterous and dictatorial "secrecy" by-law.

Aldermen Pinfold and Dowell, who should know better, are quoted as saying that "there is no secrecy involved" in the new measure. Either they have not read it or (surely this is the case) they have no understanding of the basic issue involved.

The issue is freedom—the freedom of the man on the street to write a letter of protest (or, for that matter, of praise) on any aspect of civic business, and to get it before council. He no longer has that right. The mayor, acting as both judge and jury, has been authorized to "lawfully deal with (letters) which are defamatory or unusable."

As any qualified lawyer will concede, you could drive a truck through that clause. Is there anyone around brave enough to define the word "lawfully"? Who will decide which letters are "defamatory" or "unusable"? The mayor, of course; but he has already proven, by his silly dismissal of the innocuous teachers' letter on the library issue, that his definition of "unusable" is anything which displeases him.

The fact remains that no citizen may in future write a letter, on any civic matter, with a positive guarantee that it will pass the mayor's personal screening and get to the attention of the persons elected to serve the voter. This is an abrogation of a fundamental right which has existed since Magna Carta. It is identical with the right of the humblest rating on board a ship to protest what he considers an abuse right up to the admiral and, if necessary, to the Crown itself.

We are not now objecting to the matter of communications going to the mayor and council before they go to the press. The old system, under the guidance of city clerk Frank Hunter, worked well in the past because the press did not abuse the privilege, and because harmonious relations obtained at City Hall. It relinquishes this privilege.

YOUR HEALTH

When a Stroke Comes

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

It is a terrible thing for a previously healthy man suddenly to find himself partially paralyzed, perhaps unable to talk, perhaps with much of his memory gone, or with almost all of his interests lost.

Often the person finds himself irritable and unreasonable, and different from what he was before. A man who had always been good-natured and a tower of strength to his family, may now be hard to get along with; he may fly off the handle easily; if he is able to get to his office, he may fight with his employees; he may find his old drive gone; he may no longer be able to get things done; his business judgment may be poor; he may start to do foolish things with his money; and he may get mixed up with designing people who will rob him. He may get suspicious of his wife and children; and distrusting banks, he may take his money out to hide it around his house and then forget where he put it. I remember such a man who hid his money somewhere around his farm, where it was never found again.

After the type of stroke which affects the mind, an elderly widow is often a terrible problem because she cannot very well be left to live in her big house alone, and if the children hire a nurse to take care of her, she promptly discharges the woman. The old lady, in occasional spells, may be perfectly sensible and reasonable, but then she may slip back into a confused and forgetful state, in which she may fail to recognize even one of her children. At night she may get up at intervals to wander about the house, turning on all the lights. Because of the danger to the children who come home to try to take care of her, they get so little rest that soon she is nearly out of her mind.

FAMILY OFTEN TROUBLED

In many of these cases the family soon are at their wit's ends; they don't know what to do, and often even when they have plenty of money, the problem seems almost beyond solution. The children do not want to humiliate their mother by having her declared incompetent or having her committed, but without some control over her, it may be almost impossible for them to take proper care of her or of her fortune. Usually they have to hunt for a nursing home that will take her in.

Often, because the woman is so forgetful and at times unreasonable, old friends and relatives soon stop coming to see her; and then, left to herself and without any stimuli, reluctantly, knowing that it will impede press coverage of civic affairs, but confident that the news will come out when the people demand it. Already several organizations have signified their intention of vitating the mayor's stratagem by the simple expedient of mailing duplicates of all their letters to the newspapers.

Although he campaigned on a platform of open meetings and regular reports to the voters, the mayor has come around a full 360 degrees and now will not speak to the press—which is to say, the public. The height of this childishness was achieved not long ago when this newspaper called the mayor, along with a number of other civic leaders, to ask for a statement on the opening of the Red Cross drive. And what did he say? "No comment!" My, oh my.

This of course leads us to the ultimate—and most pernicious—conclusion: that the mayor's motivation in writing the new by-law was sheer spite. Alarmed at the astonishing brouhaha which greeted his offhand and thoughtless remarks about book-burning, the mayor is obviously attempting to "get even" with the agencies which quoted him.

This does not surprise us. The mayor's proclivity for quixotic and perverse behavior are famous. The long and sorry catalogue extends from his original feud with the city manager on down through his badgering of the Water Board engineer, his opposition to the Arts Centre gift, his destruction of committees, through the book-burning episode to his recent curious comments on Victoria as a prime H-bomb target.

What does surprise us is that he has somehow managed to persuade six aldermen that he is doing the right thing in setting himself up as censor of the public mails, and by introducing secret committee meetings.

All honor to Bobby Macmillan and Margaret Christie, who voted against the new by-law, and to Geoff Edgewood, who says he would have voted against it had he been in town. In attempting to keep the channels of information free, they performed an honest public service.

For the others, we have only pity. We need a new slate at City Hall. Never has the conduct of civic affairs sunk to such an abysmal level as it has during their tenure of office.

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

she has an even greater tendency to degenerate mentally. What is then sad and unfortunate for both the invalid and her children is that she may live on for 10 or even 20 years, using up all the money in the family, money which should have been saved for the education of some fine children or grandchildren.

Fortunately, there are some strokes which leave the mind almost intact, but there are others, small ones, which do not paralyze muscles, but which wreck the mind. Often a series of small strokes will eventually destroy so much of the victim's brain that his or her mind will be affected and the character changed. The family is very fortunate in those many cases in which, even after several little strokes, the patient remains pleasant and reasonable and able to take care of himself or herself.

Many persons whose brain remains clear are tortured day and night with miserable sensations and aches and even pains here and there. There may be neuralgia in the face, or in a shoulder or wrist, or there may be a "misery" in the abdomen, or a terrific burning somewhere in the skin. Characteristic of these miseries is the fact that often they remain constant for years.

MANY ADVERSE EFFECTS

There may be dizziness and ear noises, and a poor sense of balance. There may be a nasty taste in the mouth or a burning there; there may be numbness here and there. A hand may get a bit clumsy, and the bank may ask the patient to come in and leave a new signature. Sometimes, after a little stroke, the person will rapidly lose 50 pounds, or, in a few weeks, a hip-joint may get stiff and sore. Many persons, after a little stroke, get "rubbery legs" which do not work well; they are weak, and do not follow the will of the person as they used to do.

Sometimes the saliva gets thick and hard to spit out; and in some cases food tends to go down the wrong way, and thus at the table to cause violent spells of coughing. Many little strokes cause pain to shoot down into the chest or abdomen. If it shoots into the chest a wrong diagnosis may be made of a heart attack; later the patient will show by his ability to walk comfortably along the street that he hasn't any heart disease.

One of the most important things a patient can do is to recognize the fact that he has had a little stroke, and that his drive and his memory and ability are not what they used to be. Then he should not waste all of his money going from one clinic and specialist to another, trying to get a diagnosis and a cure. In a later column I will describe some of the things that a doctor can do to help such a patient.

Island Digest

LADYSMITH — Queen Charlotte Air Lines has thanked the Chamber of Commerce here for its invitation to resume air service between Vancouver and Cassidy airport, but stated it can do nothing without completed radio range and lighting facilities.

Passenger business dropped below the economic level in 1953, officials said, forcing the company to discontinue the service.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Thomas Worth Whitman, scaler and veteran of 41 years in the woods, died when he slipped down an icy slope into the path of a falling tree, a coroner's jury decided here Tuesday.

The accident occurred Saturday at the Emerald Logging Co. Kelsey Bay, after Whitman had signalled to fallers to go ahead with their work.

There was no blame attached in the death.

DUNCAN — Funeral will be held here Thursday for William Sylvester Preston, 82, who died at his Yuubou home Sunday. Born in Owen Sound, Ont., he had lived at Yuubou nine years and prior to that time resided in Chilliwack and New Westminster.

Surviving besides his widow, are a son, Garvin, in Lac La Hache, and a daughter, Mrs. Norman Thompson, Yuubou.

SAANICHTON — Central Saanich council on Tuesday night tabled an application from W. G. Overhold, representing Memorial Gardens Association (Canada) Ltd., to establish a 30.4-acre cemetery on Stelly's Cross Road.

The plan calls for six cemetery gardens of from four to five acres each. A municipal by-law approving the two existing cemeteries would need modification for the new plan.

SAANICHTON — Persons caught dumping garbage in unauthorized spots will be fined $250, Central Saanich council decided at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

NANAIMO — Ratepayers Association here has asked the city council to have Dr. E. W. Best, city health officer, investigate complaints of a dangerous rat infestation from No. 1 Indian Reserve and Chinatown.

It was stated that the south end of Chinatown is beyond the city limits.

"The only way to get the rats out of there is to burn it down," said Ald. William McGregor.

JOINS BOMBERS

WINNIPEG (CP) — Ralph Misener, president of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, announced today the signing of Stavros Camakes, 23-year-old tackle from the University of Minnesota.

TOKYO (UP) — Exports of Japan's heavy industry slumped dangerously in the first half of 1953, even before effects of the Korean truce were felt.

High production costs were blamed for the decline. Japan's iron-steel industry is losing to strong competition from European producers. The once-busy shipbuilding industry received not a single order from foreign shipowners in the first half of this year, the transportation ministry reported.

The slump in shipbuilding was blamed on Japan's inability to cut costs to meet competition from Britain and West Germany. The price of $150 a ton offered by European shipyards is less than the Japanese cost of production.

TWO PRICES

In an effort to re-enter the international shipbuilding market, Japanese shipbuilders are planning to adopt a dual price system, selling to foreign buyers at prices substantially below prices for domestic buyers.

The Japanese Journal of Finance and Commerce reported that the Mitsui Shipbuilding Co. is likely to conclude a contract with an American firm for construction of a 22,000-deadweight-ton tanker at a price between $150 and $160 per deadweight ton, 20 per cent less than the former export price of $200, and less than the production cost of $180.

Japanese steel-makers fear that intensified international competition following the Korean truce will worsen the already gloomy export situation for iron-steel products.

TRADE PACTS SUFFER

Japan also is finding it difficult to fulfill trade agreements with Pakistan and Argentina calling for the export of Japanese iron and steel.

Though the Japan-Pakistan trade agreement signed in April provides for Japan's export of iron and steel, the prices proposed by Pakistan were lower than Japanese production costs.

A month and a half of stalemate in implementing the Japan-Argentina trade agreement was settled by Japan accepting 80,000 tons of Argentine wheat at $90.5 per ton, $4.5 higher than the international price, and selling 75,000 tons of semi-processed iron and steel at $103, about 20 per cent higher than European prices.

The part of the Japan-Argentina agreement calling for the exchange of Japanese pig iron for Argentine wheat has not been fulfilled. Argentina preferring to take low-priced pig iron from Austria.

Alpinists Scour Mountain For Lost N. Vancouver Woman

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. — Experienced mountaineers are scouring the slopes of Timber Mountain near here today in a stepped-up hunt for a missing woman.

More than 80 volunteers hacked their way through wet brush, Tuesday, looking for Mrs. Helena Jackson, 46-year-old widow mother of two teen-agers who vanished Sunday morning. Wearing only a dressing gown over a nightdress, Mrs. Jackson stepped out into the bush surrounding her home on the Mountain Highway leading to Grouse Mountain Chalet. She was seen two hours later higher up the road, but no trace has been found of her since.

RCMP called in the Grouse Mountain Emergency Squad Tuesday night to lead the other searchers over the rough terrain.

U.S., Britain Abandon Plans To Carry Out Trieste Scheme

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain have abandoned plans to carry out their 1953 declaration for settling the bitter Trieste dispute, it was learned today.

The declaration called for the two nations to withdraw their forces from Zone A of the Adriatic territory and turn over the area to Italy. Informed sources said, however, that the two powers have given up plans to carry out the decision because of vigorous opposition.

Yugoslavia claims part of the territory which the United States and Britain planned to hand over to Italy and Marshal Tito has threatened to fight if the declaration made on Oct. 8, 1953, is executed. Italy is unwilling to discuss the Trieste controversy with Yugoslavia until the decision is carried out.

In view of this impasse, diplomatic sources said, the United States and Britain privately have given up hope of settling the smouldering dispute on the basis of the October 8 decision. Officially, however, the two governments are still standing by the declaration because no satisfactory alternative can be found.

The Trieste difficulty arose from a 1948 U.S.-British-French promise to give Trieste to Italy. Yugoslavia a few months later broke with Moscow and the Western powers were unable to carry out their 1948 pledge without offending Yugoslavia.

EDMONTON, Alta. (BUP) — Forty-nine applications have been received for the position of Edmonton police chief following the resignation of former Chief Constable Reg Jennings after a police force shake-up.

Longden May Ride In Derby

LONDON (CP) — Johnny Longden, ace United States jockey, may ride the Canadian owned Irish colt Blue Sail in the English Derby at Epsom Downs this summer, it was announced Tuesday.

Frank More O'Ferrall, managing director of the Anglo-Irish Bloodstock Agency, said a license is being sought for Longden at the request of Calgary oil men, Max Bell and Frank McMahon, partners in Alberta Ranches, the turf syndicate which owns Blue Sail.

Longden, a native of Wakefield, Yorkshire, grew up around Taber, Alta., where he learned to ride in company with the late George (The Iceman) Woolf, great jockey of a decade ago. His son, Vance, a trainer, is in the head sustained March 30, in his room in a city hotel.

New CPR Train Ferry Named 'Princess of Vancouver'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The CPR's new 7,000-ton train ferry, expected next summer for service between here and Nanaimo, has been named the Princess of Vancouver. It was announced today by William Manson, vice-president, Pacific region.

"In retaining the name Princess, after a famous line of ships on the West Coast, it was only fitting that it should be named after British Columbia's largest city," he said.

The Princess of Vancouver will be the first all-purpose vessel ever built for the CPR.

The new unit will have a service speed of 15½ knots. Besides accommodation for 800 passengers, she will carry 28 railway cars or alternatively 110 to 120 automobiles, or a combination of any form of wheeled traffic, including the largest road trucks and buses. A twin-screw and diesel-powered ship, she is expected to go into service early next summer.

DIES OF WOUND — VANCOUVER (CP) — Phillip L. Barron, Trail businessman, died in St. Paul's Hospital here Tuesday from a bullet wound. His son, Vance, a trainer, is in the head sustained March 30, in his room in a city hotel.

Victoria Hits New Low in Blood Donors; 12-Year-Old Saanich Girl New Polio Case

Tuesday, the same day that a new case of polio, a 12-year-old Saanich girl, was admitted to Jubilee isolation ward, Victoria

Helps You Overcome FALSE TEETH Looseness and Worry

No longer be annoyed or self-conscious because of loose, wobbly false teeth. FASTEETH, an improved alkaline (iron-acid) powder, sprinkled on your plates holds them firm so they feel more comfortable. Avoid embarrassment caused by loose plates. Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

hit a new low in blood donations to a Red Cross clinic aimed at gathering blood for Gamma Globulin production. Gamma Globulin is a blood derivative used as a polio preventative. The Red Cross is currently seeking 500 donors. Only 134, lowest number ever recorded in one day's clinic operation, attended the clinic.

A 12-year-old Saanich girl who was stricken Tuesday is the sixth case to be reported on Vancouver Island this year. The Red Cross mobile blood-gathering clinic winds up a two-day drive at Red Cross House, Fort Street, tonight at 9.30. Thursday the clinic will operate at B.C. Forest Products Ltd. The clinic seeks 250 pints daily but fell badly behind quota on the first day.

Officials say 366 donors are required today to wipe out the loss.

"I don't see how we can keep up the hospital's supply for normal needs and still have enough for Gamma Globulin," one official said.

'A Bunch of the Boys Were Whooping It Up ...'

One of the vivacious, colorful scenes in the Royal Winnipeg Ballet's version of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." Fresh from triumphs in the U.S., the Winnipeg group will appear at the Royal Theatre here early next month. The ballet shown above will be presented on Thursday, May 6, the second of a two-night run. Among other famous performances in the ballet's repertoire are "Swan Lake," "The Finishing School," "Ballet Premiere," "Don Quixote" and "The Black Swan."

Music Teachers' Compositions Featured in BCRMTA Recital

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

A side of musical activity too generally neglected in the west was given an airing Tuesday night, by the British Columbia Registered Music Teachers' Association, Victoria branch, when members of the association presented some of their own compositions in recital.

It was interesting to realize how much activity there is in this field, and of what variety. While nothing strikingly original emerged, the evening provided some moments of genuine satisfaction and gratification.

A sound understanding of principles of composition was apparent frequently and there was plenty of indication of appreciation for the character of the genre in which the composer was working.

Weaknesses which cropped up here and there, were notably failure to develop and exploit themes, overstatement of material and occasional use of derivative melodies.

TRUE ART SONG

A group of three songs by Frederick J. Krieger were quite lovely. They had a sensitive vocal line and exhibited the tonal poetry and expressiveness of a true art song. They were sung by Mrs. R. Sturgeon, with the composer at the piano. Margery M. Vaughan conducted St. Aidan's United Church Choir in a Kyrie, Sanctus and Benedictus of her own, and also played three Short Sketches in Canon Form and a Prelude she had written for the piano. Her work is shapely, well and firmly built with a spare, aesthetic line and interesting harmonic structure.

Considerable brilliance was shown by Olive Stuart both in writing and performance of a pianoforte Sonata in G minor. Two songs by the same composer, sung by Winifred Lugin Fahey, were pleasing but of lesser calibre than the piano work.

CATHEDRAL GLEE CLUB

Several of Madame Fahey's tuneful numbers were programmed, including a group of one piano composition and two songs performed by Mrs. Stuart and Stanley Martin, and some choral pieces by St. Andrew's Cathedral Glee Club under direction of Mrs. O. D. Young.

Eric V. Edwards composes prolifically, principally choral numbers, and several of these were sung by the Sidney and North Saanich Choral Society under direction of the composer. Written for the unusual instrumental group of organ, piano and violin, his melodic Nocturne and Intermezzo were played by Grace Beswick, violinist, and Muriel Filby, pianist, with Mr. Edwards at the organ.

FINE VIOLINIST

VANCOUVER (CP)—Arthur Polson, 19-year-old violinist, topped the British Columbia Music Festival with an amazing 95 mark. Adjudicator Guy Jonson said it was the first 95 he had awarded in Canada because "I haven't heard anything like it before."

There are two reasons why Black Magic chocolates are worth writing home about. First, those really luscious centres were chosen by 3,000 people from literally hundreds of different chocolates. And then there are no better chocolates made than Black Magic, at any price. This is because Rowntrees put all the value into the chocolates themselves, packaging them simply, but elegantly, in a smart black box.

You can really taste the fruit in Strawberry Cup—luscious strawberry-puree blended with fondant cream. Just one of the tender, delectable centres in Black Magic.

'200 TRAINED SPIES IN YUKON'

Walsh Says Quebec Target Of Communist Pincer Plans

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—Quebec is the third target of a Communist pincer movement already started in Guatemala between North and South America and the Yukon in the far Northwest Territories of Canada, a former Communist said today.

More than 200 trained Communist spies already are at work in the Yukon Territory and more than 100 agents have invaded Quebec's Ungava and North Shore where the largest hydro-electric and mining developments of the century are underway, he said.

"Should Canada or the United States ever be attacked by the Communists, bombers from Red bases in Siberia and Polar air bases will come southward from the Yukon and Ungava," ex-Communist agent Pat Walsh said.

"It may seem a long way from Guatemala to the Yukon, but when you add Quebec's Ungava you have a triangle of attack on both Canada and the United States which is very close to home when you figure the speed planes travel today and the fact agents are already at work," Walsh added.

CALLUSES
To relieve painful calluses, burning or tender sores on bottom of feet and remove calluses—get these thin, soothing, cushioning pads.
D. Scholl's Zino-pads

Walsh, who appeared before the United States Senate anti-subversive activities committee, added that there were "hundreds of Communist agents operating at strategic points across Canada."

His former Communist bosses, already had "completed their mission in Guatemala," he said.

"The Communists are gradually taking over Latin American countries, and Soviet submarines regularly make port in some of them to save agents who have become in danger in the United States and Canada for their activities," Walsh said.

One Communist agent who operated in Toronto and Kingston, Ont., had to change his name to continue his operations, Walsh said.

Walsh, a former official of the now-defunct Canadian Seamen's Union, said he had documents to prove his statements.

Quoting from one, he said: "We advocate the formation of a province uniting the Yukon and Mackenzie district. If such a province were formed, we believe that the communities of northern British Columbia and Alberta would soon be clamoring for admittance."

"Such a one step would be another step in the path of the Communists' plan to create a Guatemala of the north," he said. "The next step would be the separatist cry at the first convenient excuse, and when war with the USSR becomes a reality the already established Reds would see to it that a buffer state be created as a convenient jumping-off base for Soviet planes."

NBC Symphony Orchestra Will Disband

NEW YORK (UP)—The National Broadcasting Company has announced that the symphony orchestra directed by Arturo Toscanini for the last 17 years will be disbanded at the end of the current season.

It will be replaced on next year's nation-wide broadcasts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra directed by Charles Munch, the network said.

Sylvester L. Weaver, Jr., NBC president, said it had been decided to disband the famed symphony after Toscanini announced his retirement April 4. The orchestra was organized for Toscanini in 1937, Weaver said, and has cost the network more than $1,000,000 a year since then.

Weaver said the NBC symphony will be broken up into smaller units "to serve the requirements of NBC."

BERWICK, England (CP)—Fishermen from this Northumberland town netted 601 salmon from the Tweed River in five hours. The feat was said to be a record.

BAD WEEK FOR 'CRIB' WIFE; HUBBY GETS TWO '29' HANDS

Attempting to compete against two 29 cribbage hands in 10 days is proving trying to Mrs. H. E. Hemmons, 1616 Hampshire Road.

"My husband is beating me very badly," she admitted today.

She and her husband had played a few hands of cribbage every night for more than 30 years before seeing the perfect hand for the first time.

When Mr. Hemmons drew his first hand two weeks ago he had three fives, two jacks, and a sixth card of no significance. Never considering the possibility of a 25, it was only by luck that he discarded one of the jacks instead of one of the fives, Mrs. Hemmons said. The 29th point came with the turning up of the fourth five to match the jack in his hand.

Mr. Hemmons drew his second perfect hand on the week-end.

California Wine Imports Under Study

B.C.'s liquor control board is at present "studying" the question of importing California wines for sale to the public. Attorney General Robert Bonner gave the legislature this information Tuesday in reply to questions asked by George Gregory, Liberal, Victoria.

Mr. Bonner confirmed that California wines have been offered to the Liquor Board and that formal application has been made to have them carried on liquor store shelves.

Lacrosse Rules Tightened

Lacrosse players who are inclined to emulate wrestling bears will have their toes soundly stepped on this year by officials of the Inter-city Lacrosse League.

In an effort to speed the game up, protect the ball carrier and discourage excess rough-house, all officials and coaches met in Vancouver Tuesday night and came up with a couple of new rules and different interpretations of old ones.

Probably the rule change that will come in for the most exercise and the most disfavor from defensive players is the giving of a two-minute minor penalty for the wrap-around check, a manoeuvre that has become almost common-place.

Vicious slashing at the ball carrier with no obvious intent to hit his stick will bring the offender a two-minute penalty as will charging from behind and charging an offensive player after he has passed, shot or lost possession of the ball.

Players taking part in face-offs will no longer be required to make a draw with their sticks. They will be allowed to lift the ball, slap it, put it or push it with their noses. This follows in line with the eastern style of face-off.

Getting down to crimes of a more serious nature, any player deliberately striking another on the head with a stick will be indefinitely suspended pending a full investigation.

The Victoria Shamrocks have a vested interest in the hockey fortunes of the Toronto Marlboros, now competing in the Ontario Junior A playoffs. Jack Biondi, whom the Rocks hope to acquire, is playing with Marlboros and if the team should go all the way in playoff competition, it is highly doubtful Biondi could come to Victoria in time to comply with the CLA residence rule. However, the Rocks are cheered by the fact that Marlboros are two games down in the best-of-seven series.

Jerry Fitzgerald, hailed in most lacrosse circles as the greatest player in Canada today, is coming west to join the B.C. Lions football team and it is rumored that Johnny Cavallin's, Vancouver Pilseners have first call on his lacrosse talents. Fitzgerald played for the Peterborough Trailers, but was unable to make the trip west last Mann Cup final time.

The great Petes team appears to be in danger of crumbling, as Shamrock goalie George Johnston reported on his arrival here that Ross Powless and Roger Smith, the Indian super-stars of the Peterborough club, have jumped to St. Catharines. The Cats are regarded as the team to beat in Canada.

Harry Preston, agile and colorful goalie of last year's New Westminster Salmonacs, is trying to hook up with Vancouver Pils, but is having a tough time displacing young Ron Delmonico, who starred with the Minto Cup junior Salmonacs last year. Delmonico is rated as the solid choice to replace the late Jack Green in the Pils' nets, meaning that Preston will likely swallow his pride and return to New Westminster, where he has toiled in vain these many years.

Youthful Pin Prodigy Gives Vets an Eyeful

By RON COULTER

Step aside men. Youthful John Dunnick of Mount View High School stole the bowling spotlight last Saturday when he racked up single games of 202, 236 and 218 for a big 656 total in Gibsons Junior Tenpin League.

His lofty 656 mark established a new triple record in the junior league and is probably the highest total recorded in any city tenpin league this season.

Cooper's Plumbing and Heating captured the Strathcona Bowling Alleys' Women's Tenpin League playoff championship Tuesday night by winning three straight games from Tilllicums in a best-of-five series.

Cooper's, who deadlocked for second place with Pacifics in final league standings, posted team totals of 716, 734 and 723 for a 2,173 triple. Tilllicums came in with singletons of 603, 711 and 658 for 1,974 in losing the roll-off.

Tilllicums' Mamie Worth was tops for the night with a 458 triple, while Erma Stables, also of Tilllicums, shot high singleton of 179. Cooper's had previously edged Pacifics, 3-2, in a five-game semifinal series. Pacifics Lottie Hughes led the trundlers that series with a 190 singleton and 746 five-game score.

The Ramblers team from Dockyard won first place in the annual Victoria Council Service Federation of Canada bowling tournament rolled at Gibson's last week-end with a 3,096 total.

Tinklers from Dockyard took second with a 3,069, while the Hydro-Graphic Survey Wrecks came in with a 3,064 triple to take third. Tax Rolls of the Income tax branch were fourth at 3,022.

LONDON (Reuters)—In the only soccer match played Tuesday night, Southend beat Aldershot 2-1 in Division III Southern Ray Ball shot a 792 total and Phyllis Little hit for a 693 triple to pace the women. Both were awarded the President's Cup in their respective divisions.

Early leader in the A singles event of Gibson's annual Vancouver Island fivepin tournament, which concludes tonight, was Bert Copp with an 817 total.

John Dick of Ladysmith was tops in the B singles with an 886 triple, followed by Percy Riddle with 752.

Victoria Kingpins held first place in A teams action with a 3,874 total. Browns from Ladysmith were runners-up with 3,758. Atomic Bombs shot a 3,146 team score to lead the B teams.

Andy and Alice Brown of Ladysmith led A doubles with a combined 1,683 total. Bill Odgers and Charlie Pugh totaled 1,510 for second. The combination of Little and Doug Romkey totaled 1,379 in B doubles.

CCF Union Leaders Lose Last-Ditch Fight Against Labor Code

Socrats Quash 36 Opposition Changes In Hot and Heavy 7½-Hour Debate in House

The new Labor Relations Act is a deliberate attempt to wreck B.C.'s trade union system, Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle) charged in the House Tuesday night.

Thousands of B.C. workers would be unemployed within 12 months of the passage of this act, he said.

"We will remember this week not only as the week with Good Friday but the week with Black Tuesday."

Strachan's accusation was made during a fiery seven and a half hour debate, ending at 1:30 a.m. today, in which the Social Credit majority battered down 34 CCF and two Liberal amendments. Two government amendments — one previously proposed by the CCF — were passed.

The debate was not completed in the marathon sitting.

An attempt by Liberal leader Arthur Laing to have the LRB act hoisted six months was ruled out of order. But Laing said he would re-submit it when the bill comes to third reading, scheduled today.

'Bulldozing' Charged by Strachan

Temper flared as the government majority battered down the flood of Opposition suggestions, and brought from Strachan the charge Premier Bennett was "bulldozing the act through."

Tuesday night's hot and heavy debating, and its end result, duplicated the Workers' Compensation Act debate the night before. In that set-to, the government also forced its will on the House.

The combined Opposition did not always agree on the LRB changes. The Liberals sometimes voted with the government, more often with the CCF. CCF MLAs with trade-union backgrounds were the chief speakers. George Gregory (Liberal, Victoria) submitted the two recommendations for the five-member Liberal group.

CCF Strachan, prominent in the Carpenters' Union, charged the Social Credit Labor Act was designed to wreck the 32,000-member International Woodworkers of America, B.C.'s biggest union.

Howard Warns Forced to Break Law

The bill is "a disgraceful effort to split unions wide open" and "drive workers through picket lines," Strachan charged. "It will make scabs of the workers in B.C."

Leo Nimsick (CCF, Cranbrook) joined Strachan in declaring a man could never get rid of the stigma of "scab."

Frank Howard (CCF, Skeena) an IWA official, warned the government it would be impossible for his union to obey the new rules.

As a union official he would not cross a legal picket line, even if it meant breaking the law, Howard said.

CCF Opposition Leader Arnold Webster said the penalties for illegal strikes could "wreck" unions. It would be very easy for unions to break the law by refusing to cross a picket line and thus be conducting an illegal strike.

The government seems to look on trade unionism with "fear and dread," Webster said, or as "some force which must be controlled."

Illegal Strike Penalties Changed

The government amended the section of the act on penalties for unions found guilty by a judge of the Supreme Court of conducting an illegal strike. One or all of certification, collective bargaining agreement and stopping the union's checkoff rights could be nullified.

The Opposition voted against the amendment but supported a suggestion by Mr. Gregory that would have made the penalty one, two or all of those.

The second government amendment, supported by all sides of the House, forbids prosecutions under the act unless there is permission from the Labor Relations Board.

The CCF amendments dealt with a variety of matters in the act. They attempted to take some of the control from the labor minister and return to the Labor Relations, safeguard industry-wide negotiations CCF members said industry supported this; keep unions out of the courts and remove clauses that force union men to cross picket lines, they urged.

Most Opposition members agreed that the act would not give industrial peace.

Threat of Enemy Mines Major Worry to U.S. Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy has expressed "acute concern" that enemy submarines could lay highly destructive explosive mines in American coastal waters and perhaps block shipping lanes.

Rear-Admiral Wilson D. Leggett, chief of the bureau of ships, discussed the prospect last month in secret hearings before a House of Representatives appropriations subcommittee. Parts of his testimony were made public today.

Cambodia Protests Viet Minh Invasion

Ontario Home on Thursday . . . Without Alistair

The Royal Canadian Navy cruiser Ontario will dock at Esquimalt Thursday at 11 a.m., home from an Antipodean cruise in which she took part in the Royal visit to Australia and New Zealand. But the newest "new entry" on her crew's roster won't be aboard, Alistair McLay, eight-year-old polo victim, sailed in Ontario from Dunedin to Wellington, both in New Zealand, with the CO's permission, and then was flown home. In addition to paying all his expenses, Ontario's crew collected $500 for him. Two of his four brothers and one sister also are crippled. In the above photo Alistair is being tucked in for the night by AB Lloyd Eisler of Seaforth, Ont. (SNS Photo.)

GRANDPA WAS GOOD FOR NOTHING

Duncan Plan Would Pay Kids to Walk to School

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP)—Children in the Duncan area may earn while they learn.

Rural trustees of school district 65 (Cowichan) have proposed a plan of cash awards to children who walk to school.

The trustees feel this would save the school board a large amount in transportation costs and give the children an opportunity to earn towards the cost of a university education.

Among the schemes advanced is one of awarding prizes for attendance to children walking to school. The amount of the prize varies with mileage covered.

Another plan would pay the child 5 cents a mile for the distance walked.

GAGLARDI'S HAPPY FACE IRKS WINCH

Veteran MLA E.E. Winch, 75-year-old CCF member for Burnaby, criticized Public Works Minister Gagliardi in the House Tuesday night.

He accused him of treating the Labor Relations Act debate "as a joke."

The minister rejected the accusation.

"Because my nature happens to be a happy one, am I to be continually abused?" he asked. "I am just as serious about this important legislation as anyone." He shouldn't be criticized, he added, "just because of my face."

BELIEVED DROWNED

Missing Man Identified In Crash Photo

VANCOUVER (CP)—A photograph of the Moose Jaw plane crash has revived a Vancouver mother's hopes that her son may still be alive.

Owen James Sedman was believed to have drowned here in July, 1952, but his body was not recovered.

His mother, Mrs. Jack Sedman, said Tuesday she believes she recognized her son in a newspaper photograph of a wreckage scene taken shortly after the plane collided over Moose Jaw last week.

She said a young man shown looking at the wreckage bore a marked resemblance to her son, who would be 19 now. She said she would try and meet the young man shown in the picture to see if he might be her son. The young man, one of a number of onlookers, was not identified in the photo.

The Sedmans moved here from Saskatoon eight years ago.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE

PNW Trade Association Wants Barriers Eased

PORTLAND (AP)—The Pacific Northwest Trade Association, in its concluding session here Tuesday, called on both the U.S. and the Canadian governments to lend a hand in trade stimulation.

Canada was asked to allow its citizens to return from U.S. visits with duty-free trinkets provided that the value was no greater than $10 at any one time.

The U.S. congress was asked to defeat a bill now in the senate which would restrict imports and exports of natural gas. In the course of approving this for the second year, the association beat down a move by Seattle Gas Co. to amend it to call on Canada to lift any restrictions on gas imports, then again voted down the Seattle move when it was offered in a separate resolution.

Both countries were asked to co-operate with industry groups in an effort to re-establish offshore markets for fresh apples and pears and to re-establish the pre-war freight rate differentials to the far east, which aided the west coast.

Other resolutions urged continuance of Shemya air base in the Aleutians near Attu; asked development of Mount Rainier national park for year-round use; and commended the federal power "partnership" plan.

Elk Lake Man Gets Time to Comply

A man who disregarded an order by the fire chief to repair, remove or destroy an unused garage within 60 days as it was a fire hazard, won a remand for two weeks in city police court Tuesday.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said he would suspend sentence that long to allow the accused, Sidney D. Vantreight, Elk Lake, to prove his intent to follow the fire authority's order.

Vantreight told the court that he had lost the letter advising him of the order, December 13.

Troops from Korea Feast Eyes on Home

By ROY THORSEN

In the words of Victoria Canadian returning soldiers, the Pacific coast after a long siege in the monotonous, endless hills and dusty roads of Korea is a "sight for sore eyes."

"I got a warm feeling all over when I got a first glimpse of the green, timbered coastline of America, with the giant snow-capped Coast Range mountains forming a backdrop," said Sapper William J. Wedgewood, 32, of 69 Menzies, to this reporter Tuesday.

"He was one of six Victorians who were among close to 1,400 Canadian 25th Brigade troops on the troopship that docked at Seattle last week-end."

"The sight seemed to affect the other boys like me," said Spr. Wedgewood of the RCE.

VIVID DESCRIPTION

Korea, in his opinion, "can best be described as a 'hell hole,' and it sure is a swell relief to come home again," he said with a sigh.

Staff-Sgt. Douglas S. Hardisty (RCA), 38, of 400 Niagara, confessed he enjoyed the same thrill after the Pacific crossing. "Korea might be okay once you get use to it," he said. He described Korea as a land of continuous rolling hills and dusty roads.

Both enjoyed visits to Japan. They mailed home and brought with them many wonderful souvenirs from both Korea and Japan.

They came home to wives and families, including tiny mites who have yet to learn the name "da-da." S-Sgt. Hardisty's opinion of the Japanese people was "happy-go-lucky and pleasant."

LONG SERVICE

Both have long-service army records and will stay in khaki after leave. They are after pensions. The staff-sergeant has been through 15 years' service. Spr. Wedgewood nearly 12 years.

Other Victorians on the home draft were Cpl. M. J. McKinnon (RCE), of 2154 Belmont Avenue; Cpl. J. W. Ewen (RCEME), 376 Belmont Road, Colwood; Pte. T. S. Dick (RCIC), Craigflower PO, and Pte. J. G. Stewart, Victoria, local address not known.

Dorothy is S-Sgt. Hardisty's wife. Their children are: Leslie, aged 13; Larry, 10, and Michelle, two years.

Spr. Wedgewood's wife's name is Joy. They have four small children: Linda, 11 years; David, four; Antonio, three, and Ernest, one and one-half years.

They reported that Canadian troops are going through rigorous non-war training in Korea and that their lives had been brightened somewhat by a new recreation centre opened near Imjin.

28 WASHINGTON LOCALS BACK B.C. SCHOOL JANITOR STRIKE

LANGLEY, B.C. (BUP)—Twenty-eight locals of the Building and Service Employees' International Union from Washington state have thrown their support behind the strike of janitors and engineers in school in this area.

International representative Arthur Hair, of Seattle, promised full support in the week-old strike.

Strike started last Thursday when 19 union workers walked off the job to back wage demands.

Kinsmen Air Cadets Plan For Big Week

No. 89 Squadron (Kinsmen) Air Cadet Corps is preparing a program that will fit into National Air Cadet Week to be observed by the Air Cadet League of Canada from April 25 to May 1.

Howie Reynolds, chairman of the Victoria Kinsmen Club group sponsoring the Air Cadet Corps, reported that some plans are being worked out for the big week.

Some 256 Air Cadet squadrons across Canada will observe the special week by holding church parades and open house and other functions the public will be invited to attend.

Main purpose of Air Cadet Week is to provide the provincial and local committees of the league with an opportunity to campaign for public support.

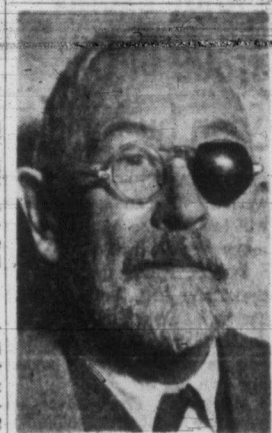

League officials point out that 21 new squadrons were opened in Canada last year. Air Cadet strength across the country is now close to the target of 20,000 cadets.

Young Baptists to Air 'Ecce Homo' Friday

$30 Million A-Plant Will Supply Electricity for 400,000 Homes

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The world's first full-scale atomic power plant, which will produce commercial electricity to help light Pittsburgh homes and run its industries within three or four years, will be constructed along the Ohio River 25 miles from the city, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Duquesne Light Co. said the pioneer plantman's first major effort to harness the atom for peaceful purposes, will be built on a 400-acre wooded site near the tiny rural borough of Shippenport.

While neither the starting nor completion dates for the power plant were announced, Duquesne light board chairman Philip A. Fieger said his company will need additional generating power starting in 1957.

"The proposed atomic power plant will provide a portion of this capacity," Fieger said.

60,000 KILOWATTS

The atomic plant will generate enough power to supply the residential electricity needs of more than 400,000 persons. An atomic reactor, or boiler, fueled by slightly enriched uranium, will supply enough heat to generate a minimum of 60,000 kilowatts of electricity. The reactor alone will cost approximately $30,000,000.

The company said the plant will be similar to a conventional coal or oil generating station "except that we will not build a steam boiler."

Westinghouse Electric Corporation will design and build the atomic reactor which will make the steam to spin the big turbo-generators. Fieger said Duquesne Light will pay $5,000,000 of its cost. The atomic energy commission will finance the rest.

Fieger indicated the reactor is the same type the government is now installing in the submarine Nautilus, the navy's first atomic warship.

The site selected for the plant is near steel, lead and synthetic rubber plants. It was purchased several years ago when Duquesne planned to expand its conventional-type facilities there. Transmission hookups already are in place.

Customers will pay usual rates for the atomic-generated electricity although operating expenses for the plant will be "substantially higher" than for a conventional plant. But the amount Duquesne will pay toward the reactor is "far less" than the cost of a conventional boiler for a plant of the same size, Fieger said.

Fieger described the atomic generator as a "pressurized water reactor" cooled and moderated by ordinary water under pressure.

Design of the plant itself has not been completed, but experts indicated that to laymen, its appearance would be similar to a normal power station. Its construction will not affect the daily life of nearby residents and communities any more than any other power facility.

Tobacco Industry Report Refutes Lung Cancer Theory

NEW YORK (UP)—The tobacco industry has issued an "interim" report containing statements by 36 "distinguished cancer authorities" denying there is concrete evidence of a link between smoking and lung cancer.

The industry's research committee issued the report Tuesday. The report, it said, was issued because a result of the "sensational nature of statements about tobacco, many laymen and even physicians are unaware of the extent to which these statements have been questioned by other authorities."

The industry committee said another report would be issued after conclusion of basic cancer research to be undertaken by the industry. A prominent scientist will be chosen to direct the research, the committee said.

In a roundup of previously published statements going back to 1923, the committee outlined its contention that much more research must be done before causes of lung cancer or any other kind of cancer can be reliably established.

Among those quoted in the report are spokesmen at the National Cancer Institute of the U.S. government, the Damon Runyon Fund, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and the University of Texas School of Medicine.

Typical of the comments was

CHICAGO (AP)—An oil company has brought out a talking oil can to help promote the sale of a new line of motor oils.

The can starts plugging the new oils, explaining their purposes and accomplishments in tests.

Royal Pair Inspect Ancient Ceylon Ruins

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UP)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh journeyed 160 miles by special train today to see the ruined city of Polonnaruwa, capital of a civilization that flourished from the 8th to 13th centuries.

Crowds packed stations along the route for this first of the royal party's trips into the country. Almost all houses and shanties were decorated with palm leaves and flags.

NAIROBI, Kenya — East Africa security headquarters said today 1,020 Mau Mau terrorist supporters have been arrested since breakdown of the mass surrender talks.

CAPETOWN, South Africa — A courageous mother saved her husband and two children from a crazed lioness Tuesday by leaping on its back and pulling its ears.

VIENNA, Austria — Nearly 10,000 Communist-led demonstrators defied the Austrian government Wednesday night and paraded through Vienna with torches, wreaths and banners.

NEWARK, N. J. (UP)—Federal Court Judge William F. Smith today ordered gangland overlord Albert Anastasia be stripped of his citizenship. The order paved the way for the federal government to deport Anastasia to his native Italy.

Anastasia, reputed onetime lord high executioner for Murder, Inc., was held to have falsely secured illegal entry into the United States in 1931 by concealing his criminal record.

One Pin From Glory

SEATTLE (AP)—A stubborn No. 7 pin that wavered momentarily but refused to go down Monday kept Dale Carter of Bremerton, Wash., from becoming the 14th man to American Bowling Congress history to roll a 300 game.

Although Carter failed to make the perfect game ranks, his 299, first of this year's 51st tournament, was only the 15th of its kind rolled in the world series of bowling.

Carter, a 27-year-old Bremerton, Wash., roofer, would have been the second man of the 1954 tourney to hit a perfect. Tony Sparano of Reno Park, N.Y., turned the trick March 31.

Gouzenko Claims More Reds 'Will Come Over to Our Side'

TORONTO (BUP)—Igor asked political asylum was proof of his contentions.

Gouzenko said today that a Red diplomat's disclosure of a Russian spy ring in Australia indicates that more Russians who are given the assurance of protection will "come over to our side."

Gouzenko, a former code clerk in the Soviet embassy in Ottawa who fled with documents which touched off Canada's 1946 spy probe, told the Toronto Telegram the disclosures were "very good news."

"More will come over to our side if they can be sure they will be safe."

Gouzenko had urged previously that "Ironclad provisions" be set up by western countries to protect and encourage other Russian citizens who could provide information about communism. He said the announcement that Vladimir Petrov, chief of the Russian secret police in Australia, had

His milk is fresher—

—because of this pipeline on wheels!

Modern milking practices and pasteurization plus speedy and efficient transit ensure you of your regular delivery of health-giving milk—as fresh and pure as Canada's great dairy industry can make it.

Canada's trucking industry plays a major role in the "milk run" from the farm to dairy to your doorstep. Daily, throughout the country, trucks pick up fresh milk from the farm yards, rush it to nearby dairies or perhaps to the railway station for shipment. Once pasteurized and bottled for delivery, the milk is again loaded on fleets of trucks—and in a matter of a few hours an entire community is supplied with fresh milk.

Most of us take it all for granted. But the daily "milk run" is just one of the important tasks of the trucking industry which helps keep Canada, her people and her commerce "on the move!"

Expert Says Long-Range Dispersal of Cities Only Real Way to Meet Hydrogen Bomb Threat

Deep Shelters Also Advocated

(With more than five years' experience in British civil defense during the last war, Mr. Ross, Canadian born, now living in Victoria, deals in the following article with problems raised by the hydrogen bomb. After various experience in air raid posts Mr. Ross finished the war as area officer for the home division and since has acted in an advisory capacity to the U.S. service.)

By A. D. ROSS

If a third world war breaks out, there is no doubt at all that the people who will really get it in the neck are the civilians of urban masses. And it is surprising that practically nothing is being done to give them some form of protection against the weapons by which it is known, they are threatened.

One of the most ill-advised suggestions that could possibly be made is now a matter of serious consideration between Wesley Black, our provincial secretary, and Paul Martin, the federal minister of health and welfare.

It is proposed that large cities should be summarily evacuated on the threat of approaching hostile aircraft. This would mean that the public, in its hundreds of thousands, would be on the surface, displaced and in motion—all ready for a roasting by the explosion of the first hydrogen or atomic bomb.

ROADS BLOCKED

Summary evacuation would block the avenues of communication for miles in every direction. Hospitals, medical services, police and firemen would have their usefulness cut down to their immediate surroundings, or would be useless, tangled up in the streams of evacuees.

Quite a different thing, of course, is a long-term policy of dispersal, as is gradually being developed in London. But there is a tendency, in North America, for cities to grow more crowded towards their centres, as they increase in size. Nothing has been done to reverse this tendency, and in the threat of the enormous destructive power of modern attack, there are only two things to be done with a city's population:

(1) Disperse it—if given time.
Or (2) shelter it, deep underground.

SHELTERS NEEDED

Western governments have been preoccupied almost entirely with the development of new forms of offense, and an encouraging sign of their success along these lines has been the greater development—by potentially hostile governments—of massive underground workings.

But have we neglected our shelters?

The retaliatory powers of any government with a hydrogen bomb are potent, and the North American public is vulnerable. It is grouped in large uncoordinated and unprotected masses.

Relatively adequate protection can be achieved only by the construction of enormous, deep shelters near the heart of the cities.

They must be of sufficient strength to withstand the surface blast of a superbomb, and so designed and equipped that, within them, large numbers can exist for periods of days.

No standards should be set by shelters of the last war; except, possibly, the deeper London tubes.

COSTLY JOB

The cost, of course, would be considerable, and the work enormous.

But the cost would be but a fraction of the sum spent on weapon development in the last 10 years; and if the Egyptians could build the pyramids, we can build our shelters.

If we are spared an atomic war, various modifications to these shelters could prevent them from being a total loss. They would help to solve a city's two main problems—parking and storage space.

Their proximity to the centres of the city would thus be a blessing. They would

Single H-Bomb Blast Would Blank Greater Victoria

Graphically shown above is the area that would be damaged in the Greater Victoria region if an H-bomb such as exploded at Eniwetok in 1952 were set off at the city hall. It is the reason why civil defense authorities are revamping their whole conception of preparing defense of cities against atomic attack. The three-mile circle in the figure is the area which would be totally destroyed by an H-blast. From there to the seven-mile circle there would be heavy damage. Beyond that to the 10-mile circle only light damage. These details have just been announced. Since the Eniwetok explosion there have been two other H-bomb tests, one on March 1 and another March 26. Both were of much greater force than the first one, although details of their destructive effect have not been announced. However, from the March 1 blast Japanese sailors 80 miles away suffered dangerous radiation burns from falling ashes and there was radiation tested 800 miles away. Facing the reality of the H-bomb, civil defense authorities now believe the saving of population depends on speedy evacuation of cities within the warning period that would be given by radar and spotters before H-bomb planes arrived at target.

other March 26. Both were of much greater force than the first one, although details of their destructive effect have not been announced. However, from the March 1 blast Japanese sailors 80 miles away suffered dangerous radiation burns from falling ashes and there was radiation tested 800 miles away. Facing the reality of the H-bomb, civil defense authorities now believe the saving of population depends on speedy evacuation of cities within the warning period that would be given by radar and spotters before H-bomb planes arrived at target.

always be there for use as shelters.

Having got your shelters, the importance of a sound civil defense system must not be overlooked. Planning should be revised for an effective wardens' service, to be built up and trained before hostilities. Not everyone can fill the requirements of an effective civil defense warden. There should be careful selection. The policy of throwing open civil defense to anyone has had a very enervating effect on the service, and on the public's regard for it.

EXPANDED SERVICES

The civil defense service should be designed to incorporate, in time of war, the police force and the professional fire-fighters—both greatly expanded and further trained; in wartime the complete CD service should be placed under the control of a home security department, second only in importance to the armed forces.

To no one will this suggestion be less welcome than to the firemen and the police. But, of course, with the problems before us, they, like many others, cannot be left with all the advantages of peacetime conditions.

It will be up to the wardens' service to see that everyone—that is, every able-bodied and sensible adult—has a good practical working knowledge of first-aid-on-the-spot, and immediate fire quenching. Any big problems will have to be dealt with by the appropriate services, which will be highly trained.

RESCUE SERVICES

However great an explosion, there will always be an outer boundary to it, and around this must be brought up the services of rescue and resuscitation, to enable the life of the communities and the nation to go on as best it may.

It has become a matter of comment among those who had experience in the last war, that much of the invaluable knowledge gained in practical operations, on both first-aid and fire-fighting, has simply not been used in post-war civil defense training. This is thought to be due to the fact that this knowledge was never brought to the notice of the chair-borne operators of civil defense in Europe—many of whom are still in their chairs—and these gentlemen were not always spry enough to find out for themselves what was going on.

It is a pity, because both Truett's modified first aid, and the practical work of street fire-parties, together saved many lives and many buildings from the flames.

To most people it came as a decided shock when the United Kingdom Parliament, having set up a select committee on expenditure to examine the post-war U.K. Civil Defense Corps, received from this select committee a report condemning, in good round terms, the CD corps—which it called a facade—and pointing out emphatically that it was without leadership, direction or inspiration.

If this can happen in Britain—the cradle of civil defense, as of many other things—people in North America would not be ill-advised to give their own civil defense services an overhaul.

In civil defense, which has a very short history, there is plenty of room for enterprise and improvement.

Pedestrians Hurt In Fountain Mishap

Albert E. Hallett, 68, and his wife, Nina Hallett, 59, Scott Apartments, were knocked down while attempting to cross Douglas Street near the Fountain roundabout at 8.30 a.m. today.

Neither was seriously hurt. Taken to hospital in police ambulance Mr. Hallett was found to have a bruised left knee, his wife a bruised right knee.

Police said driver of the car involved was David Ross Smith, 504 Vincent.

IMPROVED PHONE LINK DUE FOR WEST COAST

Four radio-telephone stations now under construction by North-west Telephone Company to improve B.C. Telephone Co.'s long-distance service to Vancouver Island's west coast will be completed by late spring, the company announced today.

They are at Vancouver, Bamfield, Tofino and Mount Horn, near Port Alberni. Engineers say that within a few months the new stations will give complete coverage of the Alberni Canal for vessels and land points.

The stations will use frequency modulation and very high frequencies to give completely private talking.

West coast points are reached at present from Port Alberni by land lines running down the Alberni Canal. These lines and other west coast facilities have just been acquired by the B.C. Telephone Co. from the Canadian government.

Raid Warning System Slow

Mayor Backs CD Head's Demand For Change in Rules on Sirens

Use of air raid sirens to warn of a possible air attack was endorsed by Victoria's mayor today.

He gave Leonard G. Hatcher, civil defense target area director, the "green light" to go "as far as possible" in a campaign to secure permission to use the sirens to warn people of approaching bombers.

Current CD rule is that sirens can be sounded only when an attack is "imminent."

While the mayor said he is maintaining his "no comment" for the press attitude, he did say he backed Mr. Hatcher 100 per cent.

The "yellow" warning of an enemy approach has been abolished. "We can use the sirens only when attack is imminent and to sound the all-clear," Mr. Hatcher explained.

The mayor agreed a pre-raid warning is "positively necessary" to speed preparedness and evacuation plans.

WASTED MINUTES

"We can't afford to waste even 10 minutes," Mr. Hatcher told the Times. He already has asked B.C. CD chiefs for permission to sound the sirens as soon as an enemy is sighted.

"Until informed of defensive measures that can be taken against the hydrogen bomb, we are carrying on with our CD program as usual," Mr. Hatcher said.

Mr. Hatcher said a new Civil Defense measure would be put into operation shortly.

Forty key posts are to be established here. A yellow CD sign, with EPI (Emergency Instruction Point) in large letters, will be placed at each post.

"This measure will be explained in a half-page advertisement in the Times," Mr. Hatcher said.

Each sign will be near the home of a man well-schooled in CD "and he will be the man the residents in the area will turn to for guidance in the case of an emergency," the director said.

RADIO NETWORK

He said taxi companies would be asked to send a radio car to each of the posts "so we will have communication throughout" to direct each post official on evacuation.

Evacuation of school pupils from schools is one of the major items on the CD program, Mr. Hatcher said.

Asked about underground shelters in the event of an H-bomb attack, Mr. Hatcher said: "We have not yet been told of what protective measures we should take in this event."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—In place of a church marriage service, may a couple in B.C. be married in a civil ceremony?—B.S.L.

A.—There is provision for such ceremonies for those desiring them. The two go before a marriage commissioner sometime between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., and there repeat required declarations.

On completion of this a certificate is issued and the marriage is recorded in the vital statistics. Friends of the couple sometimes attend. When the Legislative Buildings here were open on Saturdays some of the ceremonies were held on that day. Now they are held on other days of the week. More are held in Vancouver than in Victoria.

Q.—I remember seeing John Barrymore in a movie in Victoria about 15 years ago. Can you tell me what it was?

A.—Barrymore, in "Night Flight," was seen at the Capitol the second week of November, 1933. In the cast were Helen Hayes, Clark Gable, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest to the community.

If Hetty had twice as many hats as Hesta has and if each had the same number more than she has now Hesta would have just three times as many hats as Hetty has. Hesta and Hetty have less than 14 hats among them. So how many hats has Hesta?

Tuesday's answer: Tom bought five pint-size cartons.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Hand-Tooled Leathers
At Low, Low Prices!

By PENNY SAVER

Saw a display of hand-tooled jewel boxes the other day—and was amazed at the standard of craftsmanship in them. You see, the smallest one was just $1.50. Why, when you consider the hours that must go into the making of such an item, that price is astoundingly cheap!

Each jewel box, besides being expertly tooled, is completely lined with suede. Some of the larger ones have removable compartments, which are also suede-covered. You pay $3.95 and $5.95 for the large sizes. The colors are in deep, rich shades of ox blood, natural, London tan, red and green.

Displayed next to the jewel boxes were some leather cigarette boxes. They were of a size to accommodate the pouch-style cigarette package. These came in the same rich colors and same finely tooled leathers as the jewel boxes.

I didn't have to leave the store to find real snakeskin belts at $2.95. Genuine alligator belts are just $3.95.

Then there were some of those popular train cases... what beauties they were! You know, each one is completely leather lined, except for the lid, that tilts back revealing a mirror, the full size of the lid back.

The cases also boasted cosmetic compartments in the forms of removable trays. These, too, are completely leather covered. Take your pick from plain or tooled leathers at prices from $19.95.

Hand-carved wooden links, held together by leather thonging make perfect belts. The links are also brightly painted to add a cheery touch to any skirt and blouse combination. Now, read carefully! The belts I mention will cost you a mere $1 apiece. I think this is a buy you shouldn't miss!

AS WE LIVE

All Work and No Play
Makes a Maladjusted Boy

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a child becomes overly absorbed in reading and school work, it generally means that he is making poor social adjustments. A father writes:

Hurlock

(Q) "My wife was a school teacher before we were married. We have a son who is 10 years old. He stands at the top of his class but does not seem to like the children—nor do they like him. He is always hanging around the house, reading, studying, watching television or just fooling around. His mother encourages him to study but I feel that one must be more than a good student to get along in this world."

(A) I agree with you completely. There are very few jobs which require only good workmanship. Most jobs today require the worker to get along well with his fellow workers and with his boss.

Your son may be your wife's pride and joy because of his academic achievements, but she is overlooking the fact that his development is becoming one-sided. This is bad and will become worse as time goes on.

He needs friends and companionship with other children—even if his school grades suffer to a slight extent. If he cannot stand at the top of his class and have friends, then it is better to have friends and be below the top.

By the age of 10 years, most boys have learned to play all sorts of games and are getting ready for sports such as baseball and football. I am sure your son would not be able to keep up with them if he has not had the chance to learn to play with others before.

Why don't you teach him to play the different ball games? Have a game with him after supper and over the week-ends. Under your tutelage it would not be long before he would be as good as the other boys.

If you feel unable to do this, then employ a high school boy who is good in athletics to teach your son. This would be even better than teaching him yourself because the boy might be able to fire him with enthusiasm to go out and play.

Patient Care Gives Baby New Feet

It was through the help of the Family and Children's Service that curly-haired, brown-eyed little Linda was given a sturdy pair of legs and two active feet with 10 little toes that stretched out straight and strong in her pretty shoes.

She came into care of the F and CS when she was only one month old and during a routine doctor's examination prior to placing her in an adoption home, it was found that she had club feet.

"With visions of thick-soled boots and a crippled or lame child," a social worker with F and CS remembers, "we wondered who would accept this handicapped baby who would be unable to compete with little friends in school or at play."

"We looked for a couple with large hearts and lots of courage," she continued, "and WE FOUND THEM!"

Under guidance of doctors and nurses with the Family and Children's Service, little Linda received massage and therapy every day and the little twisted feet slowly responded.

Today the parents who expended so much love and time, watch their baby walk on strong straight feet.

A triumph to the love and care they have given her and to the patience and perseverance of workers in the Family and Children's Service.

Most of the work of Family and Children's Service must be done without benefit of publicity. Little Linda is only one of many hundreds of forlorn little children, unwanted and uncared for, who are made happy and healthy through placement in foster and adoption homes under supervision of this service.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The mail is always fascinating but this week it seems exceptionally so. Yesterday I had a letter from a reader who really faithfully and seriously follows her health and beauty routines, from diet and figure-molding exercises to facial exercises and skin and hair care. She is 50 and looks 15 years younger.

While she is a person who would always take pride in her appearance, she would not have taken it so seriously had she not been a career woman. She writes:

"If I did not have to earn my living, frankly, I would be tempted to take to the wilderness and forget the whole business, letting sweet nature take her course! What a heavenly prospect! But many thanks for the help you have given me and which I need."

It does sound sort of restful, doesn't it? When I have been on a lecture trip during which I had to try to look and be my best every single minute, I always come home and walk about the house barefooted and clean out the closets. While I believe deeply in physical self-improvement, and know that the physical has a big effect on personality, a change of pace at times seems essential.

The woman who recognizes the importance of physical appearance but does not make a fetish of it is on sound ground. Actually, many women make the mistake of thinking that in order to remain attractive in looks they must spend hours a day accomplishing it. This is not true.

The important thing is to make these routines a part of each day, to schedule time for them just as you do for eating and sleeping. You do not feel that you spend a lot of time eating. You take the time entailed in this for granted.

You do not have to spend hours on exercises. From 20 to 30 minutes daily will bring you lovely results, although a little more time will bring them more quickly. Skin and hair care take only another half-hour

Club Discussion On Older Women In Employment

The older woman in the employment field was subject of a round-table discussion at meeting of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, Monday evening.

Miss Marjorie Baird, as chairman, presented the overall problem with special emphasis on work patterns, married women coming back into the labor market after their children are grown up, discrimination through age and the barrier created for older women through pension plans.

Objections to employment of older women were itemized by Mrs. Gertrude Woods as lack of adaptability, a greater accident frequency, falling health resulting in greater absenteeism, slower reactions, which means slow-down of work patterns of other employees, and pension plans now in force in many firms.

On the other hand, Miss Marjorie Trotter showed the advantages of employing older women. These included experience, steadier view-point and wisdom that only comes with mature years.

Miss Frances Paterson endeavored to find a remedy or a meeting of various viewpoints. She listed fields in which the older woman could succeed and courses she could take to make herself indispensable.

Mrs. Sybil Bateman thanked the speakers at close of the discussion.

Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin presided at the business session when it was decided that the club will provide funds to furnish a room in the new wing of the Victoria Nursing Home.

Delegates to the national biennial convention in Toronto in July were named as Mrs. Laughlin and Mrs. Ruby Masters.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Jean Gordon (Mother of 3)

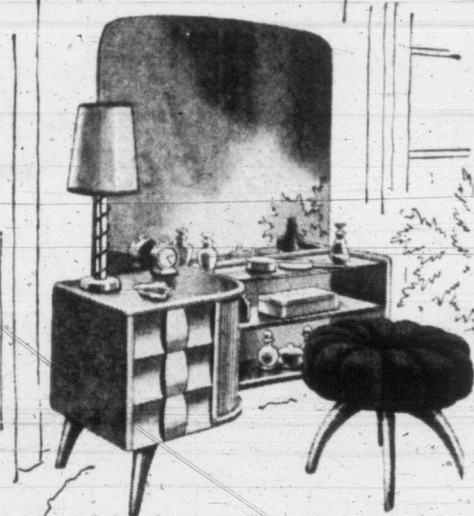

A salute to an inventive mother for this two out-size, used bath towels. Use one horizontally for skirt and sew tapes at each end. Cut other towel in half. Bind rough edges. Use one half for bib; add a tape for neck halter. Cut remaining half into two large patch pockets and attach to front of skirt. Presto! You've a protective, practical apron. Pockets make handy repositories for baby oil, powder, cotton, etc.

"Solid" start. When baby's ready for his first solid food (usually cereal), get him off to a good start with Gerber's Cereals. Most tots take to these mild-tasting, easy-to-digest cereals instantly. When mixed with milk, formula or other liquids they have the creamy texture that feels extra-nice, is easy to swallow, too! Gerber's Cereals are enriched with calcium, B-Vitamins and the supplementary iron babies need shortly after birth. For variety, rotate all five: Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat, and Mixed Cereal.

On the spot. Try this for removing milk spots when your darling disregards the rug or sofa. Sponge spot as usual. Sprinkle on a bit of baking soda. When soda dries, brush or vacuum the spot away.

New products news! Gerber's have now introduced 6 Strained Meats and 3 Junior Meats to their wide variety of foods for baby. All are smooth-textured, made from selected cuts... rich in the protein your tot needs to develop sturdy bones and muscles. Good for baby, too, is another new product... Gerber's Strained Egg Yolks. Ready to serve "as is", Gerber's Egg Yolks can also be added to milk or formula... and no wasted whites to worry about!

Hot and Hearty—Salmon Chowder Best

The chowder family is full of surprises, but a steaming hot chowder is always full of flavor no matter what turns up in it. There have been many controversies as to whether a chowder should have this or that or none of something else. But there will be no arguing about the fact that this savory and substantial salmon chowder is eating satisfaction at its best.

The chowder originated in the fishing villages of Brittany, France. When the men came back from a fishing expedition, their return was celebrated with a huge kettle of soup or stew to which each family contributed fish or vegetables or the seasonings or spices.

When these French folks settled in Newfoundland, the "big stew pot" came with them. The New Englander, with an abundance of sea food at his door, continued the chowder tradition, and the French word chaudières meaning "big stew pot" became the more Canadianized chowder.

Ingredients: 1 pound can pink salmon and juice, 1 No. 2 can whole kernel yellow corn, 1 cup uncooked rice, 1 10-ounce can condensed tomato soup, 4 cups water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 bay leaf, dash of Tabasco sauce, 2 cups milk, 1/2 cup chopped celery leaves.

Method: In a large soup kettle, thoroughly mix together the salmon, corn, rice, tomato soup, water, salt, pepper, bay leaf and Tabasco sauce. Cover and cook over a low heat stirring several times as the chowder begins to heat. In order to mix the water with the other ingredients. Cook 30 minutes. Add the milk and celery leaves. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. If a thinner consistency is desired, add additional water. This recipe makes 10 half cups of chowder.

For your frosting, measure 3/4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar into a bowl. Combine 1 1/4 tablespoons boiling water with 1/2 teaspoon butter; when melted, add a dash of salt and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract. Stir in the sugar. Beat in 1/2 teaspoon corn syrup until smooth. Add more boiling water, a drop at a time, until of spreading consistency.

Easter Coffee Ring

As Easter Sunday is such a let stand five minutes. In the meantime, measure shortening, sugar and salt into a large mixing bowl. Scald milk, pour over. Stir until shortening is melted. Let cool to lukewarm. Beat in before or you may let it rise over night and bake fresh for breakfast.

One package dry yeast, 1/4 cup warm water, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 3/4 cups sifted vitamin enriched flour, 1 egg, well beaten.

Soften yeast in warm water.

ELECTRICITY UP, TRANSIT DOWN

BCE Profits Gain $590,187 But Still Below PUC Maximum

Reflecting British Columbia's rapid development, electricity sales by B.C. Electric last year jumped 15.1 per cent to a record 1.9 billion kilowatt hours, the annual report of the parent company, B.C. Power Corporation, Ltd., showed today.

Gas sales in the same period rose a moderate 3.4 per cent, topping 3.8 billion cubic feet. However, the postwar trend downward continued in transit. Passengers carried in 1953 declined to 118,000,000, off 4.8 per cent from 1952.

Gross revenue amounted to $56,006,963, while operating expenses were $45,199,676, an increase, respectively, of 6.3 and 4.7 per cent over the figures for the preceding year.

In regulatory terms, earnings rose two-tenths of one per cent to 5.1 per cent, substantially below the fair rate of return, (6.3 per cent) set by the Public Utilities Commission.

HALF-MILLION HIGHER

Net earnings amounted to $4,595,237, as compared to $4,005,070 in 1952, which represents earnings per common share of $1.47 as against $1.34 for the preceding year, with 150,000 more shares outstanding in 1953.

"This improvement," company president A. E. Grauer commented, "is partly accounted for by the rate increases granted in 1952, which did not cover that whole year, but had their full effect in 1953."

Other highlights from the report, which has been mailed to shareholders in B.C., Canada, Great Britain United States and many other countries:

$90-MILLION OUTLAY

Funds for the company's $33,000,000 construction program this year have been fully arranged for. This will bring the capital outlay within the three-year period 1952-54 to more than $90,000,000 of which nine-tenths relates to the electric service.

On the mainland, the one-hour peak demand for electricity rose 9.3 per cent and including export topped 460,000 kilowatts.

The number of electric customers served by B.C.E. now exceeds 250,000, up more than 11,000 from 1952. Average annual use by householders was up again in 1953 to just under 3,000 kw.-more than double the 1946 figure.

Approximately $25,000,000 in $6 per cent increase in property was spent expanding and improving facilities last year, chiefly on behalf of electric customers.

Class "A" and "B" shares of the corporation were converted in October into a single class of common shares, on the basis of two new shares for each "A" share and one-half of one new share for each "B" share. The current dividend on the new shares is 25 cents a quarter.

CAPACITY ENLARGED

Last year saw completion of the 60,000 kilowatt Wahleach unit. This year the fourth 45,000-kilowatt machine will be placed in service at Bridge River. In 1956 the new Seton plant will add another 42,000 kilowatts to the mainland power supply.

Coupled with this is the 30-month job of doubling water storage (for use by the Bridge River and Seton plants) by enlarging Lajoie dam.

Commenting on the speed with which these and other projects are being carried out by the company, Mr. Grauer said:

"A public utility should not be carried along by the pressure of events or outrun by the demand for its services; its proper goal is to plan, with imagination and sound judgment, construction of facilities which will be adequate—and yet not excessive—for each step in the progress of a growing community."

In the view of the company's directors, he added, "Shareholders and employees may take pride in their respective parts in an enterprise which marches in the van of great developments now taking place in British Columbia."

New development in the natural gas situation, as it applies to B.C. and the Pacific Northwest, will be reviewed by Mr. Grauer at the annual meeting later this month.

LOCAL OPTION ON CARD GAME

Anti-Poker Candidates Unpopular in Gardena

GARDENA, Calif. (UP)—Candidates who stood four-square behind the institution of draw poker were easy winners today against three church-supported reform candidates.

The happy victors finished so far ahead of their opponents, who would outlaw the town's major industry, that they said they could not have done better "if ballots were wild geese."

They called the losers "the outcasts of Draw Poker Flat."

The city election, was held to fill three seats that were open in the city council. The vote was to test whether an anti-poker law could ever be passed in this town, which collects more than $100,000 a year in tax revenues from poker clubs.

Church organizations condemned the card games because they lured "many shady characters" to the town.

Draw poker is legal in California on a local option basis. The poker adherents, argued strongly and loudly during the campaign, contending that the game kept local taxes down and helped build the city "from a bean patch to a city worth millions."

"It is legal, it is a game of skill and it gives all players a fair deal," they said.

Winning candidates on the poker ticket were Adam W. Bolton, Harvey L. Chapman and Robert L. Finch.

VETERAN CHORISTER

British Labor's Shadow Cabinet Assails Bevan

Party Split Wide On Asian Question

By FRASER WIGHTON
LONDON (Reuters) — A split in Labor ranks opened wide Tuesday night when party leaders assailed Aneurin Bevan, leader of the left-wing faction, for his bitter attack on the joint Anglo-Canadian declaration on Southeast Asian defense earlier in the day.

It was reported that some Labor leaders are so bitter about the matter that they proposed a public statement disowning the remarks of the fiery Welshman. The party's "shadow cabinet" met in private Tuesday night and its moderate members angrily criticized Bevan's outburst in the House of Commons. The meeting was held to work out Labor's official attitude to the defense plan, announced during the day by Foreign Secretary Eden in the House.

Bevan had charged that Eden's agreement with U.S. State Secretary Dulles to examine a system of collective defense for the area would be "universally regarded as a surrender to American pressure."

BEVAN ABSENT
In contrast, party leader Clement Attlee and former defense minister Emanuel Shinwell took an uncritical line in the Commons towards Eden's statement.

Bevan himself was unable to attend the shadow cabinet meeting, being his party's chief speaker in a housing debate in the Commons Tuesday night.

A small group of Bevan's adherents introduced a proposal criticizing Eden's statement and the meeting agreed to consider it today at a full meeting of the parliamentary Labor membership.

The national executive of the Labor party meanwhile issued a statement declaring Britain's main object at the forthcoming Geneva conference should be to achieve a "negotiated settlement" of the Indo-China war.

In the Commons Eden faced a barrage of questions from Labor members who sought to pin him down on how far the government had committed itself on the southeast Asia plan.

The questioning arose over a joint communique in which Britain and the United States announced themselves ready to examine collective defense arrangements for the area together with other interested countries.

The communique followed two-day talks here between Eden and State Secretary Dulles of the U.S.

Replying in the House to Shinwell, Eden said he is committed only to an examination and added: "We could not possibly have gone further. Other countries are deeply concerned—France, for instance."

Port Alberni Civic Wages To Be Boosted

Members of the Port Alberni and district Civic Workers' Union will get a one-cent an hour across the board increase retroactive to February 16, a conciliation board report revealed Tuesday.

In addition, six statutory holidays will be granted hourly-paid employees. To compensate salaried union members for the additional holidays, an added $6 per month will be paid certain classifications now receiving a monthly salary.

Third Picture in Contest

Here is the last of the three pictures to color in the Victoria Daily Times Bugs Bunny Coloring Contest.

Ski Explorers Call Off Trek Over Icefields

JASPER, Alta. (CP) — The 1954 Canadian icefields ski expedition, plagued by bad weather, heavy snow and avalanche danger since its first attempt early this month to ski 200 miles from Jasper south to Hector, B.C., has been forced to abandon its plans.

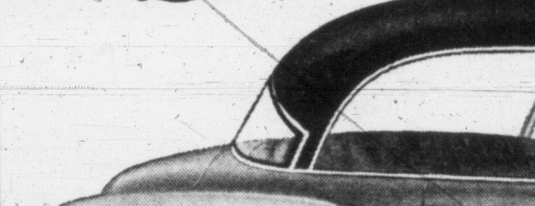

Peter Bennett of Oakville, Ont., leader of the party, said all members of the expedition hope to make another attempt next spring.

Mr. Bennett said snowfall had resulted in "incredibly dangerous" conditions on the proposed route.

Choongs Win Again

TORONTO (CP) — Eddie Choong of Malaya, British and United States champion, defeated Don Smythe, Canadian champion, 15-12, 15-2 in an international invitation badminton tournament here Tuesday night.

The Choong brothers, Eddie and David, also combined to defeat Bunny Brewster of Woodstock and George Thorpe of Hamilton 15-11, 15-7.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Federal-Provincial Relations Weaken Unity Drew Tells House

OTTAWA (CP) — The Opposition Leader, George Drew, Tuesday urged the government to summon a federal-provincial conference on taxation and constitutional issues which he said are weakening Canadian unity.

Mr. Drew, entering the Commons budget debate, said that bitter things have been said in various parts of Canada since Finance Minister Abbott's budget last week rejected Quebec's request for full federal deduction of its new 15-per-cent income tax.

He did not argue the government's decision, but said he regrets that Mr. Abbott used an unnecessarily provocative manner in presenting the government's decision.

Since then, speeches had been made which did not help national unity.

Mr. Drew said Prime Minister St. Laurent should say before the Commons adjourns today for the Easter recess that he will invite provincial premiers before the end of May to a federal-provincial conference.

Mr. St. Laurent was in the Commons but did not make any immediate reply.

BRITISH LUXURY CAR— Big Brother to Hillman Now on View in Victoria

Victoria, B.C., April 14.

The name Rootes Group comes to most people's minds as the organization making the world-famous Hillman, not realizing that Sunbeam-Talbot, and Humber, come from the same plants. In the showrooms of Jameson Motors is now to be seen one of the larger luxury cars by this famous maker... the Humber Super Snipe. Identical to many Humbers sent to various parts for the current Royal Tour, this Humber is well worth inspection. Exterior finish is in grey metallic, while hand-polished woods and genuine red leather upholstery highlight the interior finish. Stamina and performance have also long been associated with Humber, proven by the fact that the majority of Scotland-Yard's famous "Flying Squad" cars are of this make. Jameson Motors Ltd., 740 Broughton St., Victoria, are Vancouver Island Distributors for the Humber Super Snipe.

BOURNEMOUTH, England (CP) — Sir Hugh Lucas-Tooth, under-secretary for the home office, said increased juvenile crime "parallels almost exactly the increase in crime committed by their elders."

anything anticipated in the budget speech." RECALLS TERMS
Mr. Drew, a former premier of Ontario, said the original tax agreements during the Second World War had stated there was to be no lessening of provincial authority.

Last year's budget, Mr. Drew said, supported the principle that no federal legislation should discriminate against a province which did not enter a tax agree-

Krilium turns rock-hard ground into porous "greenhouse" soil

Yes, you followers of the "green thumb", your prayers are answered! Monsanto Krilium soil conditioner will help make your new lawn, flower, vegetable or rock garden lovely and productive. The secret of healthy plant growth is proper-structure growing soil... loose, crumbly earth in which plant roots have "elbow room" to spread out. KRILIUM soil conditioner keeps even hard-packed clay in a loose, crumbly, porous state... just like "greenhouse" soil, allowing delicate roots of young growing plants to reach out for the nourishment in the soil. Water and air, too, get through soil treated with Krilium, assuring healthier growth. Krilium is a must on sloping ground because it keeps soil in place... prevents rainstorm washouts. And for you heavy digging is over... you'll enjoy working the loose, crumbly soil that used to be rock-hard before you used Krilium.

KRILIUM is easy to apply, too. Simply prepare your garden or lawn in the usual way for seeding or planting, spread Krilium and mix in. Treating with Krilium costs less to obtain perfect results than all other known methods of correcting problem soil... acts instantly... stays effective for years.

Ask your dealer about Krilium, the original chemical soil conditioner by Monsanto. Better growth for new lawns, flower and vegetable gardens, shrubs, hedges, trees.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE
AA (Oscar class). BB (Worthwhile).
A (Don't miss). B (For rainy days).
C (To put in time).

(BB PLUS) "RIDE THE MAN DOWN" (Dominion)—A long-time admirer of author Luke Short—who has been writing some of the best western action film for years now, it was good to see his Saturday Evening Post serial-transcribed in color on the screen.
It was also good to see war-time favorite Ella Raines back before the cameras as heroine Celia Everts. Without doubt Miss Raines has the most striking eyes in film. Let's hope she appears in more before long.
The plot, in brief:
When cattle baron Phil Everts dies in 1892, his young foreman Will Ballard (Rod Cameron) gives warning that he intends to keep the fabulous 700,000-acre "Hatchet" ranch intact. Phil's brother, John Everts (James Bell), and Celia, Phil's daughter, are the legal heirs to the property, but John is too easy-going and Celia too young to fight off the likes of range bully Hide Mariner (Brian Donlevy) and his hired gun hands.

This is a nicely directed piece by Joseph Kane. The characterizations of the two women in Cameron's life, Miss Raines and Barbara Britton, as Lottie Priest, are strong. Although Cameron is engaged to Miss Britton anyone with half an eye can see that in temperament Ella's the gal for him. Old veterans such as Chill Wills, as Ike Adams, and Taylor Holmes as Lowell Priest, Lottie's money-breathing pop, provide the all-important bit parts that make a picture solid.
Although Mary McCall Jr.,

who wrote the screen play, did a fairly workmanlike job, she fell short on transcribing Luke's fine detail and dramatization of the old west.
Playing on the same bill at the Dominion is "The Lady Wants Mink" with Dennis O'Keefe.

Old Church Continues To Be Most Useful

VALLEY CITY, O. (UP) — It begins to look as though a 102-year-old church building here may never outlive its usefulness.

The structure was built by settlers as a Methodist house of worship in 1851 and survived as such until 1912 when the congregation had shrunk to the vanishing point.

In 1920, William Steck, operator of a feed mill, bought the rough-hewn timbered building and moved it about one block next to his mill. Steck added a second floor and put on a new roof. Otherwise the old church remains unchanged, though the steeple does show signs of decay.

Now, with the country pinched for storage space for grain, the old building is again leading a useful life.

Temple Band Of Vancouver To Play Here

Presenting "A Symphony in Brass," the Vancouver Temple Band of the Salvation Army will perform in Victoria Citadel, Saturday, April 24, at 8 p.m.

An aggregation of 45 musicians, the Temple Band is widely known on the Pacific Coast and throughout the Western U.S. due to its extensive periodic tours. It has been a special guest to several "Festival of Roses" programs and for two consecutive years has participated in the Easter "Festival of Music" in Portland, where it played to a capacity crowd of 5,000 persons.

On that occasion the music critic of the Portland Oregonian said:

"The marvel of the band was the symphonic quality that director Gillingham achieves without a single reed or stringed instrument."

The band's repertoire covers a wide range of select music, and includes excerpts from Mendelssohn, Schubert, Bach, as well as from the Salvation Army's outstanding composers.

Chief Louis Is an Indian But No Canadian, Says Tribe

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Question of the status of Chief Pierre Louis and 15 other residents of Okanagan Indian Reserve No. 1 as Canadian Indians is being investigated by a special Crown commissioner here.

The inquiry opened before Commissioner C. W. Morrow at the Head-of-the-Lake Community Hall Tuesday. Present at the hearing was M. McCrimmon, officer in charge of membership of Indian bands, who has been touring the country for the Department of Indian Affairs.

Inquiry into the status of the chief followed a protest by other members of the band that challenged his claim as a Canadian Indian.

CLAIM PROTESTED

Chief Pierre Louis, elected to his post, has been a resident of the reserve continuously for the past 20 years, but his antagonists claim that he and the other questioned Indians came from the United States. The chief's plight arose out of the provisions of a new Indian Act which went into effect Sept. 4, 1951, as a result of which the names of all members of a band were published in a list. During the following six months, Indians had a right to challenge the status of any persons included in the list or question omissions from it.

PROBES APPOINTED

Result has been that the department has set up commissions in various parts of the country to hear the complaints. A spokesman for the department said that should the inquiry decide the chief has not the status of a Canadian Indian he could not be deported from the country.

He could be allowed to continue residence on the reserve with permission of members of the band and approval of the department. Otherwise, he would have to leave the reserve, if he is not included in the list of Canadian Indians.

IT TOOK 152 YEARS BUT THEY CAUGHT HIM

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—Biologists, Tuesday, estimated the age of a sturgeon caught in nearby Lake of the Woods at 152 years. They said a microscopic examination of a cross-section of a fin disclosed the great age of the fish, netted by Harold Johnson of Kenora. What got them curious was the sturgeon's size—it was just under seven feet long and weighed 215 pounds.

EDC To Get Armored Division from U.K.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain announced today that she is ready to place an armored division in the proposed European army.

Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons that Gen. Alfred Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, "has been informed we will do this as soon as the European Defense Community corps is ready to receive it."

Eden was giving details of the agreement signed in Paris Tuesday providing for Britain's association with the projected European army.

He said Britain had told the six EDC governments that "we have no intention of withdrawing from the continent of Europe so long as the threat exists to the security of Western Europe and of the EDC."

FAIR SHARE

Britain had "undertaken to continue to maintain on the mainland of Europe, including Germany, such armed forces as may be necessary and appropriate to contribute a fair share of the forces needed for the joint defense of the North Atlantic area."

British troops now are stationed on the continent as part of the Atlantic pact forces. The EDC would consist of troops from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

France has insisted as a condition of EDC ratification that British forces be closely linked with the six-country army.

Anti-Red Abducted

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin police officially announced late today that the head of an anti-Soviet organization of Russian refugees was "forcibly abducted" Tuesday night by East German Communists who first beat him into unconsciousness.

Prince Charles, Anne Sail to Join Parents

Royal Children Leave England for First Time On Britannia; Meet Queen, Duke at Tobruk

SOUTHAMPTON (CP)—Prince Charles and Princess Anne left England today for the first time in their lives—to join "Mom and Dad" at Tobruk.

The children sailed on the royal yacht Britannia on a 2,800-mile voyage south to be reunited with the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Five-year-old Charles walked all by himself up the red-carpeted gangway.

Going on board to say goodbye were their aunt, Princess Margaret, and their grandmother, Queen Mother Elizabeth, who firmly held the three-year-old, curly-headed princess by her hand.

Before the $6,000,000 luxury vessel steamed out of nearby Portsmouth on her maiden voyage, Prince Charles fired excited questions about the ship at his aunt and Britannia officials. The tightest security measures known here since the war protected the gleaming 4,000-ton Britannia for her maiden voyage.

HEAVY POLICE GUARD

Special passes were required to get past heavy police lines on the pier. The $6,000,000 yacht will transport Prince Charles, 5, and Princess Anne, 3, to Tobruk to meet their parents on their return from their Commonwealth tour.

Large crowds gathered outside Buckingham Palace in London to witness the departure of the children on their first trip outside Britain. Crowds also collected at Waterloo Station to watch Charles and Anne board a Southampton train.

Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret traveled with the children to this south coast port.

It will not be a complete vacation aboard the royal yacht for Charles. His governess, Katherine Peebles, will see that he studies for two hours each morning in a special playroom on deck.

The children will be looked after by Helen Lightbody and Isabel Anderson, the palace nurses. Official escort to the Prince and Princess will be Lt. Gen. Sir Frederick Browning, treasurer to the Duke of Edinburgh.

Chances of the children's being sea-sick are slight, as the ship has been fitted with anti-rolling stabilizers and their beds hung between special mountings.

City Hall Staffs Awarded 3% Raise

400 Employees Affected; Mayor Summons Council

A 3 per cent wage increase for the city's 413 inside and outside workers was recommended in unanimous reports today of two conciliation boards.

See Page 3 for Mayor's Fears on Wage Increases

The boards also recommended the city enter into an agreement to provide its employees with MSA coverage on a 50-50 contributory basis.

The awards in both cases are basically the same as were handed down for police and firemen.

In the case of the two uniformed departments, however, the awards are binding. In the case of the inside City Hall staff and the outside workers, the awards are subject to acceptance or rejection by either side.

Although city officials refused to hazard a guess, it is estimated that the award would mean a total increase in the city's annual wage bill of $50,000, or one mill in taxes.

City council has scheduled a special meeting at 2:30 Thursday to consider the reports and to decide what action it will take.

FIRM POLICY

In initial negotiations, the city refused to grant any general wage increases. The inside workers asked for 7.5 per cent, while the outside workers asked for a complete revision of their wage scale to bring it in line with the city of Vancouver's.

City manager Cecil Wyatt, who negotiated on behalf of the city, stood firmly behind the mayor's hold-the-line policy.

Inside staff workers won another concession from the conciliation board. The board recommends that long-time employees be given recognition in the form of service pay. Service pay will be computed on the basis of five cents per day for every five years' service.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS

The report for outside workers made special provision for certain categories. Laborers, for instance, will not receive the three per cent increase but will get an additional five cents an hour instead.

The board, dealing with outside workers, offered a suggestion, in addition to its specific recommendations, that the city strive as far as possible to put its men on a monthly employment basis, instead of hiring them by the hour. It was felt this would bring stability to the service.

The conciliation board dealing with inside staff comprised J. A. Byers, chairman; J. Ronald Grant, nominee of the City Hall Staff Association; and Lloyd G. McKenzie, nominee of the city.

OAK BAY FIREMEN WIN 3% AWARD

A conciliation board today recommended a 3 per cent wage increase for Oak Bay firemen.

Philip Fleming, chairman of a three-man board which held hearings on the question issued a majority report recommending the increase plus recognition for MSA for firemen on a 50-50 basis with the municipality. Also working in senior capacity after completion of one platoon shift of four days, was recommended.

Quits Post

Britain's Labor party, the official opposition, was split wide open today with the resignation of left wing leader Aneurin Bevan from the "shadow cabinet." The former chief of the labor and health ministries quit in disagreement with the party on issues of West German rearmament, the Far East and Indo-China. (See earlier story Page 23.)

McCarthy Says He Has Proof 'Mr. Atom' Red

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States capital took a wait-and-see attitude today toward the government's suspension and investigation of J. Robert Oppenheimer, pioneer atomic scientist on security grounds.

Senator McCarthy meanwhile said he has affidavits purporting to show that Oppenheimer once was a member of the Communist party, an affiliation the scientist has categorically denied. The Wisconsin Republican senator declined to elaborate.

From two other persons familiar with the case came statements that the accusations against Oppenheimer had been reviewed and discounted years ago. In notifying him of his suspension, however, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission spoke of "additional investigation" last year.

The AEC said in a formal statement Tuesday that President Eisenhower has ordered "a blank wall" placed temporarily between Oppenheimer, one of the chief developers of the atomic bomb, and secret data to which he has had access for more than 10 years.

Pending the report of an investigating panel headed by a former secretary of the army, Gordon Gray, leaders of the Senate House atomic energy committee fixed a hands-off policy.

State Secretary, Family to Visit Relatives Here

Secretary of State Jack Pickersgill, Mrs. Pickersgill and their four children will arrive here Friday to visit Mrs. Pickersgill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Beattie, 2660 Currie Road. They will arrive via Nanaimo and will leave Monday for Vancouver. Mr. Pickersgill will speak to the Vancouver Canadian Club Wednesday.

PLANE WRECKAGE SIGHTED MAY BE HAMILTON CRAFT

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Plane wreckage was spotted today near the White River mill east of Enumclaw, Wash. The wreckage was apparently that of a light plane carrying Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Coles of Hamilton which vanished Monday.

Washington state patrol said the wreckage, spotted by an unidentified pilot, was in the area where a logger reported seeing the craft skimming the tree-tops.

A ground party will be sent to the scene, the state patrol said.

TIRED LEGISLATORS START HOME TREK

Changes in BCHS, Labor Act Topped Longest House Session Since 1917

Weary M.L.A.'s were preparing to head home today after a grueling two-month session of the Legislature highlighted by a complete change in the method of financing B.C. Hospital Insurance.

The second session of B.C.'s 24th Legislature ended after 58 sittings, during which the law-makers abolished hospital insurance premiums, raised the sales tax to 5 per cent, enacted two major labor bills; and approved the northern and southern extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The session was the longest since 1917, when the House held 60 sittings. It was equalled only by the 1951 session, the last held by the Coalition government.

The 2 per cent increase in the sales tax, which will replace premiums as the revenue source for BCHS, will raise an estimated $23,500,000.

EXTRA TAXES

This means an additional $8,500,000 tax burden to B.C. residents. Formerly, premiums raised only $15,000,000 for the scheme.

Premier Bennett's first budget as finance minister, and also the first budget passed by a majority Social Credit government in the province, anticipated revenues of $210,000,000 for the coming year, with expenditures of $204,000,000.

Prior to the opening of the House on February 16, Premier Bennett predicted it would be a "P.G.E. session." But the hospital insurance overhaul, and the sales tax increase, far overshadowed the railway debate.

The government now is empowered to borrow $30,000,000 to finance the province-owned railway's extension from Squamish to Vancouver, and from Prince George to the Peace River.

PROMISE WON

Liberals, headed by Arthur Laing, bitterly opposed passage of the borrowing bill without a full legislative study of the economics of the extension. And they finally wrung a

26 TO 19 VOTE ON LABOR ACT

The government this morning jumped hard and successfully on two opposition attempts to delay final reading of the new Labor Relations Act.

Both the five-man Liberal bloc and the official CCF Opposition each brought in motions to stall the labor-disturbing legislation.

The Liberal motion, put by leader Arthur Laing, was that the bill be given final reading in six months time. Division of votes on this was 19 in favor, 26 against.

Opposition leader Arnold Webster's motion was that three particularly contentious sections of the bill be reconsidered. Division of votes was the same as on the Liberal motion.

See story on Tuesday night debate on Page 12.

France Joins Plan to Seek Asian Pact

PARIS (UP)—France agreed today to join the United States and Britain in plans for the collective defense of southeast Asia.

The adherence of France to the American-proposed plan was announced in a joint communiqué issued by United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and French Foreign Secretary Georges Bidault after a day-long series of conferences on the issue in the French capital.

HOLIDAY CLOSURES

The long Easter weekend is looming, and schools, banks, offices and stores will be taking full advantage of the holiday.

Banks will be open the regular 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday—no late hours—be closed Friday, open Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m., and be closed Monday.

Government employees will leave work Thursday night and return Tuesday morning, as will city workers.

All stores will be closed on Good Friday but open Saturday.

Launching Delayed for Backyard Boat

Dreams went up in smoke for glum chums Den Ulrich, left, and John Manning, 17, when John's sports cruiser Klahanie was charred and smoke-blackened after an explosive fire Tuesday. John dropped an electric lamp into bilge, not knowing gas had leaked into boat's bottom. He staved off flames with an extinguisher until Oak Bay firemen came. The youths had planned a 10-day cruise Friday, after working to rebuild boat with other Oak Bay High students for a year. (Times photo.)

The Gov't seems as eager to get out of the House now as it wuz, aroun' campaign time, I g'it th.

Looks like th' outside staff's got an inside track.

Wonder if a few years from now people'll be gittin' fired becuz they once knew McCarthy?

VICTORIA VOTERS IN DARK

Bonner Flatly Refuses to Tell How Many Liquor Outlets Asked

Victoria voters will vote in the dark on the liquor question April 28.

They will cast their ballots without having the slightest idea how many of the new type outlets are proposed for the city.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, in the Legislature Tuesday, refused point blank to disclose the number of applications that have been made to the Liquor Control Board for the new types of licenses allowed by the revamped liquor law.

The attorney-general gave as his reason for refusing the information that "it is considered to be not in the public interest because of the forthcoming plebiscite in the city of Victoria."

George Gregory, Liberal M.L.A. for Victoria, had put the question to the attorney-general. He asked specifically for the numbers of applications for licenses covering dining lounges, hotels, clubs, restaurants, public houses and resorts.

The attorney-general's ruling refusing the information backed up an earlier decision by Liquor Commissioner Donald McGugan. Col. McGugan received the applications before the Victoria

Citizens' Committee submitted a petition asking for the local option vote. He said that since the vote was ordered he was putting them to one side and declined to disclose how many applications had been made.

Up to now the only definite announcement of plans for retail liquor sale has come from the Empress Hotel, which proposes a cocktail bar, dining lounge and dining room license, but no beer parlor.

One or two other leading hotels have indicated they probably would seek licenses of one form or another but did not make specific announcements.
